

Satellites To Police Test Pact

Sentry Vehicles Into Orbit On Secret Mission

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Two sentry satellites raced through space today on a secrecy-cloaked mission aimed at perfecting a foolproof means of policing the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

Their assignment: Determine the feasibility of using satellite-borne instruments to detect nuclear explosions as far as 200 million miles from earth. The treaty forbids such blasts in outer space.

Intricate devices in the twin satellites were designed to draw a chart of space radiation so they and later sentinels can immediately spot any sudden surge of energy from a far-out explosion.

Because of a complex flight pattern intended to place the two satellites into widely separated, 57,000-mile-high orbits, officials will not know until Saturday whether the early phase of the mission is completely successful.

No official announcement is expected on the operation, known by the code name Vela Hotel. No reason was given for the news blackout, but unofficially it was reported the United States did not want to be embarrassed by indicating to the Soviets that it did not trust them to adhere to the test ban treaty.

Despite the secrecy, newsmen were alerted by sources and watched from nearby beaches when the Atlas-Agena booster rocket blasted off at 9:32 Wednesday night with the two satellites aboard.

It was the first time in six years that reporters had been barred from Cape Canaveral for a launching.

Reliable sources reported the satellites had separated and settled into great egg-shaped orbits ranging from 230 to 57,000 miles above the earth. As the space messengers streaked upward, they were about 20 miles apart.

Under the flight plan, at 3:22 p.m. Eastern Standard Time today — a rocket engine aboard satellite No. 1 fires to kick it into a circular orbit where both the high and low points of the orbit are 57,000 miles. No. 2 continues in the original elliptical path for an additional 37 hours until it reaches the 57,000-mile altitude for the second time.

Hearing Continued In Shooting Case

James W. Meierotto, 45, of Kansas City, was granted a continuance Thursday morning by Judge Frank Armstrong on a preliminary hearing for a charge of felonious assault without malice.

Meierotto's attorney, Henry Keeler of Sedalia, requested the continuance and the hearing was scheduled for Nov. 20 in Magistrate Court.

Meierotto is charged in connection with a shooting Sept. 3 at "Nat's Place," 405 East St. Louis. He is free on $1,000 bond.

Dr. Norris Historical Society Chief

Dr. T. J. Norris, 210 West Broadway, superintendent of schools, was elected president of the Pettis County Historical Society Wednesday night at a meeting held in the assembly room of the courthouse.

Other officers elected were: James T. Denny, first vice-president;

Dr. T. J. Norris

J. C. Alexander, second vice-president; P. Cecil Owen, third vice-president; Mrs. Ike L. Warren, secretary; Miss Karen Steele, assistant secretary; Herbert W. Mason, treasurer, and Mrs. Austin Hurley, assistant treasurer.

The slate of officers selected by the nominating committee was presented by the chairman and voted on by the members present.

The meeting was opened by Luther Luckett, retiring president, and following the election the new officers took over.

The Pettis County Historical Society had been very active a number of years ago with a membership of 650 and under the leadership of the late J. L. Curry had established the museum in the Pettis County courthouse. The society later became inactive and during that time the constitution and bylaws, along with the minutes were lost.

The constitution and bylaws, which had been drawn up again by three members of the Pettis County Historical Society since its organization, D. S. Lamm, Judge Dimmitt Hoffman and George H. Scruton were presented and discussed by the group, with many expressing

Scranton Won't Be Candidate

Pennsylvania Governor Says 'No' to a Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberal Republicans casting about for a candidate to stop the whistling progress of Sen. Barry Goldwater toward the 1964 presidential nomination apparently have lost a prospect.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania went about as far as a politician could be expected to go Wednesday in saying that he not only is not a candidate for the nomination but would buck any effort to draft him.

Scranton did an uncertain waltz on the draft question. At first he said he would respond to "an honest and sincere" call. But he added that it is impossible to launch any draft without connivance of the candidate and "I would step in and stop it."

Pressed on this point by newsmen, he nailed it down with a second declaration that he would stop any draft in its tracks.

Scranton said he still is available as "a favorite son for Pennsylvania" — but not as a candidate — if by mid-1964 his state's Republicans think their 64-vote delegation ought to go uncommitted to the nominating convention.

At Special Meeting

Ordinance Calls For Sewer Vote

The City Council held a special meeting, Wednesday night, called by Mayor L. L. Studer for the purpose of acting on an ordinance calling for a special election on Tuesday, Nov. 12, regarding a sewer bond issue.

Purpose of the special session to act on the ordinance was necessary to legally pass the ordinance regarding the $3-million bond issue for sewer works improvements. Mayor Studer opened the meeting and had the notice for the special session read.

The ordinance calls for a special election on Tuesday, Nov. 12, for the purpose of voting on the $3-million general obligation bond issue for the purpose of improving the sewage treatment plants, construction and extending the sewer system. The ordinance also named the four polling places, one for each ward of the city, and the naming of the election judges.

Designated as the polling places by the ordinance are First Ward, Mark Twain School; Second Ward, Washington School;

Third Ward, Whittier School; and Fourth Ward, Horace Mann School.

It was explained by Mayor Studer the chairmen of the two leading political parties, the Democrats and Republicans, would furnish the list of judges for the election. This list, in accordance with City Councillor Earl Crawford can be furnished at any time.

Due to what is expected to be a heavy vote in the election, the council deferred until next Monday night, the regular council meeting night, the number of judges to be named for each voting precinct. Councilman Robert Bader explained it should be more than the usual three from each party, and expressed an opinion that at least four judges from each party should be selected to represent each of the four precincts in each of the four wards.

After the action of approving the ordinance was completed, Mayor Studer welcomed the visiting students from Smith-Cotton High School. He told the small group, "You boys and

Clinton Crash Kills

Horace B. Oldaker, 76, Chula, was killed instantly in a one-car accident about 12 miles south of Clinton at 1:50 p.m. Wednesday.

According to the Highway Patrol, Oldaker was the driver of a 1957 Chevrolet that went out of control on Route FF on the Henry-St. Clair County line, went off the road on the left side and hit an embankment. The road was being used as a detour from Highway 13.

The coroner's report indicated Oldaker died instantly of a broken neck. The body was taken to the Shaberg Funeral Home in Clinton.

Carter Freed From Charge In Shooting

"Under this testimony, I can't see but that this was an accident, a terrible tragedy. If so, there was no crime. So under the law I have to discharge this defendant."

With this statement Thursday morning Judge Frank Armstrong in Magistrate Court dismissed a charge of second degree murder against Benny M. Carter, 33, 724 West Cooper, which was filed in connection with the death of his 29-year-old wife, Helen, who died from a bullet wound incurred early the morning of May 22.

"You're free to go," Armstrong told Carter.

Carter, who has been free on $5,000 bond, was charged after a coroner's jury on May 24 returned a verdict that Mrs. Carter died as the result of a felony. A bullet from a gun held by Carter struck his wife in the fleshy part of the hand and mouth and she died at Bothwell Hospital late in the afternoon of the day she was wounded.

Judge Armstrong based his decision to free Carter on the transcript of the coroner's inquest under the terms of a stipulation agreed upon by Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz and Carter's attorney, Fred Wesner.

The judge told Fritz he took the liberty of obtaining only

Find Missing Youth

A missing Sedalia boy has been located by a sheriff in Cheyenne, Wyo., Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said today.

Fairfax said he had received a photo of Leroy Burns, 14, 408 East Second, from the Wyoming officer and the boy was identified. The sheriff said the boy's parents will go to Cheyenne to bring the youth home.

The Burns youth left home in the early hours of Saturday, Oct. 12.

Hostilities End Denied

Contradict Statement By Moroccan Minister

ALGIERS (AP)—Radio Algiers denied today that agreement had been reached at Marrakech peace talks to end the undeclared war between Algeria and Morocco.

The broadcast seemed to contradict an earlier announcement by Moroccan information minister Abdelhadi Boutaleb that a cease-fire agreement had been reached "in principle" and only details remained to be worked out.

The state-run Algiers Radio said the chief Algerian negotiator in Marrakech, M'hamed Yazid, was on his way back to Algiers to report to President Ahmed Ben Bella.

Before leaving Marrakech, Yazid declared:

"I have not yet found any solution with my Moroccan brothers," the broadcast said.

Boutaleb had made his announcement after a meeting of Algerian and Moroccan officials trying to settle border fighting which has been going on since Monday in the northwest Sahara. He said:

"We should achieve results today. There may be a joint statement. Everyone is in agreement for an end to hostilities, but there are still questions of detail to settle."

Meanwhile, Algerian officials at Colomb-Bechar, Algeria, about 300 miles from the disputed frontier area, said fighting was going on this morning.

Pettis Residents Elected Directors In Lakes Group

Several Pettis Counties were among the directors named at the Western Missouri Land-O-Lakes Association meeting in Osceola last week.

In the election of officers, Walt Walters, Warsaw, was named president to succeed Jim Kirkpatrick, Windsor, Dr. William Neal, El Dorado Springs, first vice-president, Jos Landreth, Greenfield, second vice-president, Dr. L. B. Emison, El Dorado Springs, secretary, and Melvin Ingram, Butler, treasurer.

Members of the 14-county board of directors include Sam Boyle, Kennie Miller and D. G. Monsees, all of Sedalia, Ralph Allen, Windsor, Herb Brown, Clinton, Harry Mills, Clinton, Walt Walters, Darace Eaton and Art Sindt, all of Warsaw, Adrian Harmon and Gene Fryhoff, Warrensburg.

Col. Miles L. Wachendorf, Kansas City, district engineer, was the main speaker at the meeting. He outlined the progress at each of the three lake areas, Pomme de Terre, Kaysinger and Stockton, included in the Land-O-Lakes area.

In messages to the meeting, Senators Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long noted they anticipate appropriations will be made by Congress for a start on the Kaysinger project in 1964.

TOWER PAINTED — The city water tower on East Main Street bears evidence that homecoming weekend for Smith-Cotton High School is near with the words "Seniors 1964" scrawled in large letters above the top railing. Police received a report at 8:57 p.m. Wednesday that two boys were atop the tower and the youths were taken into custody. In Police Court Thursday morning, Dale Diefenbach, 18, 815 West Fifth, pleaded guilty to a charge of defacing city property and was fined $25 by Judge U. L. Howerton. The other youth, a juvenile whose identity cannot be made available, was turned over to Juvenile Officer Cecil Glenn. The painting is on the south-west side of the water tower.

Red Cross Benefits from United Fund Drive

One of the 13 different agencies supported by the United Community Fund is the Red Cross. The Red Cross, in turn, provides many different services to persons in the Sedalia-Pettis County area.

One of these is the Red Cross sponsored "Grey Lady" program at Bothwell Hospital. From 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. and sometimes later, seven days a week, these helpmates of the hospital complete dozens of chores, sometimes menial, and other times major, to make the patients more comfortable and their stay in the hospital a little more pleasant.

The local Grey Lady chapter presently has 30 members, three of which are charter members when the organization was started in 1943. The three are Mrs. Iva Hoffman, the present chairman, Mrs. Joe Menelee, and Mrs. Harley Vaughn. Their training began in 1943 at the then Sedalia Army Air Base.

Standards of the organization are high and the work, all purely voluntary, is sometimes demanding. For example, to become a full fledged Grey Lady, one must complete at least 20 hours of work at the hospital. This entitles one to a stripe on her uniform, which incidentally, she must also furnish.

Some Grey Ladies spend as much as 75 hours a week at the hospital working at various duties. A typical day in the life of a Red Cross Grey Lady starts about 9 a.m. at the hospital. At times there are special errands that must be run, then the bedside trays are freshened, and the rounds are made on the three-story, 138-bed hospital providing each patient with a cool drink.

Following this, the mail has arrived and must be sorted to the different room numbers and delivered. The Grey Ladies also take charge of the flowers that arrive at the hospital and distribute them to their owners.

themselves, or write letters for those who are unable. During visiting hours, the Grey Ladies act as baby sitters, nursemaids or just company to children under 12 who aren't allowed in the rooms. They deliver surgery schedules to all 14 nurses stations and in general, help out wherever and whenever they can.

When asked what reward comes from working as a Grey Lady, Mrs. Lawrence Brown, co-chairman of the organization said, "We feel we are better paid than a lot of high salaried persons, especially when we see how people appreciate what we do for them."

But this is only half the story of the Grey Lady, one has to be one to know, and as Mrs. Ida Hoffman said when we asked her why, "only a Grey Lady can replace another."

Homer Janes Ends Career Of 38 Years On Mail Route

HOMER JANES rings the bell for the last time as he checks out from his last day as a mail carrier, as Ernest Holst, another letter carrier and long time friend of Janes, looks on. (Democrat-Capitol photo)

Homer D. Janes has put the mailbag aside that he has toted hundreds of miles, kicked off his walking shoes and breathed deeply of the country air at his home on Route 3, after 38 years and six months of pounding Sedalia pavements lay behind him. Tuesday, Oct. 1, was his last day, on that day his retirement went into effect.

Homer, tall, lean and friendly, will be missed by the people on his route where he went day after day putting mail in boxes, chatting a bit with those who saw him coming and came to the door.

"No," said Homer when he was asked about dogs, "I never did have any trouble with dogs, and that is quite a record, considering he has been more than 38 years going up on people's porches."

Homer was born near Green Ridge. His grandfather, Edward Janes, came from Ohio, homesteaded on what later became the Max Rice place and then moved to Green Ridge when Homer's dad, H. F. Janes, was two years old. When Homer was two years old his family moved to Sedalia where he grew up and was educated. His father worked at the Missouri Pacific shops as a boilermaker and Homer, too, went to work there, on Aug. 10, 1912, learning the sheet metalworkers trade.

In December, 1918, he was married to Nola Boggess, who was from Garden City, and came to Sedalia with her sister, Ruth, where they both got employment. Ruth is Mrs. Lyman Keuper.

For a few years Homer worked away from here at his trade, then one year, when they came back for Christmas from Huntington, Va., he decided that his oldest son, Jack, needed to be in one place in school and Sedalia was home.

Taking his examination at the post office he got on quicker than he expected as a regular mail carrier, when George Baughman retired April 1, 1925. Of course, he could have gone on regular a little sooner as a clerk but he wanted to be out in the open. Then came the depression and the youngest letter carrier was cut off, that was Homer, but there was still work as a clerk, and so for that year he moved inside until John Selken retired as a carrier and he went on again as a carrier.

Homer and Nola lived at 421 West 11th for 25 years. They had a second son, Don, and the strange thing was that both of the boys turned out to be musicians—not just somebody who could play instruments, but who made their living at it. The reason it is strange is because they did not come from a musical family, neither Homer or Nola play at all.

Don is a professional musician in New York City and that was his ambition from the time he was a small boy. Recently he returned from Morocco where he played with a band. He played with Billy May three years with whom he started and has been playing in night clubs with name bands since.

Jack, in the music field, was away for several years but last September came back to Sedalia. He is a teacher, teaches band at Smithton, has private pupils and recently opened the Janes Music Shop here.

It was six years ago that Homer and Nola left home on West 11th to move to the country, but to Jack that was always really home. Then when he came back to Sedalia he was able to get that house again and that is where he and his family, his wife and daughter, Jennifer, who is in high school this year, live.

Homer started in the post office under Postmaster Mint Johns, then came Postmaster Ed Mullaley and now he has retired under Postmaster Maurice Hogan. He stayed on an exceptionally long time, Homer said, three who came on after he did have already retired and there is nobody there now who was there when he started.

The weather never bothered him, the cold and snowy weather, the rain, the hot, he said, until the last two or three years. He liked the job mostly because of the contact he had with people. Until the missile project and other things brought so many new people to Sedalia, Homer knew everybody in town.

He is going to miss seeing the folks on his route, of course, but he is going to enjoy that retirement, too. There are a lot more things to be done on his home.

Homer did most of the work on his home along with his mail carrying and he did stage operator work as well. Always worked in helping set up the stage for the grandstand show at the Missouri State Fair.

He did concrete work, put in the foundation, then had two carpenters build the house, but he did all the finishing, the painting, interior decorating, put in all the plumbing, the heating system, the water. Then he built a carport and later decided to make it into a screened in back porch. Now he is going to build a garage and there are fences to build and many other things—but now he will have plenty of time and it is going to be easier.

On Tuesday, Oct. 22, a dinner honoring Homer will be given by his friends at the post office.

Mother Leave Room While Child Gets Dental Treatment

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —Mothers should not remain in the room when their children are undergoing dental treatment says a specialist.

Except for very small children, the young patient is more relaxed and cooperative if the mother stays in the waiting room, Dr. Walter Schwartz of Rozelle Park, N.J., said today in a paper presented at the 104th annual meeting of the American Dental Association.

"Complimenting the youngster for his good behavior efforts in the dental office will also increase his cooperation and foster his personal relationship with the dentist," Dr. Schwartz said.

Seek 2 Negroes For Kidnapping, Shooting a Man

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two young Negroes were sought by police today for kidnapping and shooting Steve Bellew, 22, of Independence, Mo., truck driver for a vending machine company.

Bellew said the men entered his truck Wednesday while he was making a call. When he returned to the vehicle he was forced into the back and struck on the head. One man watched him and the other drove. In an alley not far from where they entered they shot Bellew in the stomach and ran.

Ann Landers

Answers Problems Your

Dear Ann Landers: Two years ago my husband, as a gag, wrote to a teenage girl who was looking for a pen pal. Gerald got her name out of a magazine. I thought it was pretty funny at the time. He let me see the letter before he sent it, and I must say he certainly did invent a believable character.

I stopped laughing about six months later when I discovered Gerald was writing to 12 girls in 9 different states. His hobby has become such a important part of his life he can't wait till he gets home to learn if he has a letter from Yuma or Bakersfield. He telephones during his lunch hour to find out what has arrived.

Gerald is 56 years old and has been a wonderful husband. If we had had children our lives would have been complete.

He says his hobby is a harmless one because he never intends to see any of these girls. I hate to demand that he stop writing letters because he seems to get such a kick out of it. Your advice is needed.—GERALD'S WIFE.

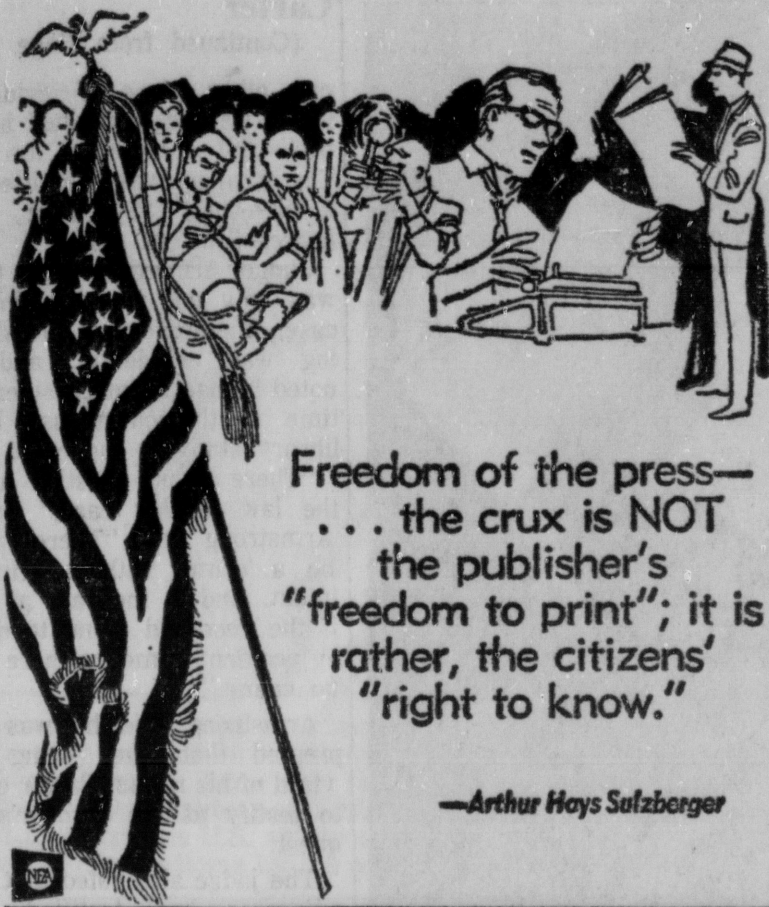

Dear Wife: A 56-year-old man who gets his kicks by pretending he is a teenager needs more help than I can provide. Tell him to see a head doctor.

Dear Ann Landers: What shall I do about a so-called girl friend? (I will call her Maurine.) We are both 16 and live in a town where the boys are so busy tinkering with their cars they haven't discovered girls yet. There are only about two girls in our whole school who get asked for dates and we are not those two.

Maurine and I had plans for Friday night. We were going to have supper at my house then go to the 7:00 o'clock movie.

At 4:30 p.m. Maurine telephoned, practically out of her mind with excitement. Rickey who is a great big round wheel at school had just called her and asked if she'd like to go bowling with him. Maurine said, "I just knew you'd be thrilled for me so I said yes." I was plenty burned up at being ditched and I want your opinion of her.—STOOD UP

Dear Up: Maurine overestimated you. If you were truly her friend you'd have been happy for her instead of "burned up."

Maurine should have told Rickey, however, that she had a previous date with you and turned him down. He would have been twice as eager to take her out next weekend—and she would have lost nothing.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's sister telephoned us last Sunday from somewhere in Montana. The whole family was heading this way, en route to Springfield, and planned to arrive Tuesday or Wednesday, depending on roads, weather and so on. We said we'd be happy to put them up—all six of them.

Tuesday evening my husband and I decided to go to a band concert. When we got home at about 11:30 we were shocked to find the weary travelers asleep on the porch furniture. When we woke them up my sister-in-law was very uppity. She said, "We telephoned so you'd be expecting us. This is a lovely welcome."

They left the next day and I feel very guilty. Should we have stayed home and waited for them?—G and H.

Dear G and H: No. Guests who cannot be specific about their arrival time should not be unhappy if the red rug isn't out around the clock. Forget it.

Woman Spends Four Days Locked in Room

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A woman who has a special lock system in the house where she has lived for 60 years waited four days before calling for help after finding herself locked in her upstairs bedroom, police report.

Louise Welti, 93, was rescued by firemen Wednesday. She had no water and only a little fruit, she said.

She waited until 3 p.m. Wednesday before calling through an open window to a passerby that her door was locked and she had no key.

Mrs. Welti drank a cup of hot chocolate but refused a medical checkup.

Becomes Gun Targets

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—Two policemen and a liquor inspector killed 76 bottles of scotch whisky Wednesday.

The scotch was contraband seized in August 1962 as it was being unloaded behind a Billings bar.

The whisky, valued at about $1,000, did not have federal or state tax stamps.

Police Capt. Ed Kilzer, Patrolman Cecil Mocabee and liquor inspector Ollie Johnson destroyed the bottles with pistol shots on the police target range.

Dale Herrick Into Phi Mu Alpha Group

Dale Herrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Herrick, 1525 South Barrett, has been invited to pledge Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity of America, a professional music fraternity for men.

Herrick, who is majoring in sociology and religion at Phillips University, Enid, Okla., was invited into membership on the basis of his active interest in music and his all-round academic and social abilities.

Only 15 students were invited to pledge, announced Bill Wessler, president of the local Gamma Upsilon Chapter. Dale is a sophomore at Phillips.

37 Initiated Into Sacred Heart Mizpah

Thirty-seven members were welcomed into Mizpah, Sacred Heart High School's pep club, Tuesday evening at a tea at the school.

The program was opened by Janet Smith, vice-president, who acted as mistress of ceremonies.

The Rev. Richard Kalaf led in prayer.

Ann Schwab, president, welcomed new members. The senior quartette, composed of Pat Fariss, Jean Dick, Carol Schoener and Delores Thompson sang "Getting to Know You."

Members recited pledges in a candlelighting ceremony and were each given a copy of the club's constitution.

Closing address was given by Kathy Gibson, head cheerleader.

After the group sang the Alma Mater, refreshments were served to members, the faculty and guests.

one other piece of evidence, which was not contained in the transcript—the size of the gun. The weapon was identified as a nine-shot, .22 caliber, long barreled target pistol.

Judge Armstrong said there was only one question in the case, whether or not the shooting was accidental, and he noted he had spent considerable time in the courthouse legal library studying the case.

"There is no question as to the law in this case," Judge Armstrong said. "There cannot be a crime without criminal intent. And in the case at bar, if the deceased came to death by accident it means there was no crime."

Armstrong said he was impressed that after being advised of his rights, Carter chose to testify at the coroner's inquest.

The judge also noted that five witnesses had testified that Carter and his wife "got along all right," there was no friction, no other woman or man and no divorce or separation.

"There was no motive, no intent, from these sources," Armstrong said.

The judge noted it was common for hunters and fishermen to display their equipment as Carter was doing the night of the shooting. Mrs. Carter was wounded at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Ford, 728 West Cooper, after the two couples had been out for the evening.

It was brought out at the coroner's inquest that the gun, a 1961 Christmas present to Carter by Mrs. Carter, had discharged accidentally on previous occasions.

"Trench" marker had been placed in the middle of the highway at Broadway and Limit at 4:55 a.m. Thursday. The marker was removed by police.

Don Schieszer, 1324 West Fifth, charged with parking in a business driveway over one hour, forfeited a $2 bond.

Charles E. Lindsey, 1920 South Lamine, charged with leaving the scene of an accident on complaint of E. Glenn Lewis and Charles Brown, forfeited a $25 bond.

Magistrate Court

James D. Johnson, 27, 1013 East Tenth, was arraigned in Magistrate Court Thursday morning on a charge of stealing over $50 and on suggestion of Judge Frank Armstrong, the young man requested a preliminary hearing.

Armstrong set the hearing for 10 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 24, and released Johnson under a $1,000 bond.

Johnson is charged in connection with funds and merchandise allegedly missing from the Price Mercantile Company, Kansas City, for whom he was an agent. Johnson was arrested by the Pettis County Sheriff's Department Wednesday night.

On recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz, a charge of stealing under $50 was dismissed in Magistrate Court Thursday morning against James Larry Shull, 17, 417 East Howard.

opinions as to what should be added to the constitution. There was much interest and enthusiasm shown with particular emphasis put on the importance of membership participation and meetings for the entire membership.

The group voted to ask the committee preparing the constitution to amend it and Dr. Norris appointed Harlan Snow, John Strine and James Giokaris to meet with them and present the suggested amendments to be inserted.

According to the constitution as presented for approval Wednesday night, which was approved to be referred to the committee for amending, the officers are to be elected for one year, from January to January, with an annual meeting to be held in January of each year.

There would be a board of 12 directors to serve one, two, three and four year terms, to meet once a month and at special meetings called by the president at the request of two directors.

Directors were elected as follows: Dr. T. J. Norris, Dr. C. F. Scotten and W. A. McVey to serve one year; James T. Denny, Don Lamm and John Strine, two years; J. C. Alexander, Thomas T. Keating and Mrs. Robert S. Johnson, three years; and P. Cecil Owen, Herbert W. Mason and Mrs. Vivian Warren, four years.

An advisory committee was appointed composed of Mrs. J. L. Curry, George H. Scruton, Mrs. T. H. Yount, B. B. Ihrg, C. F. Scotten, J. O. Jenkins, Judge Frank Armstrong, Judge Dimmitt Hoffman and A. H. Wilks.

Committees appointed by the new president were as follows: history, B. B. Ihrg, chairman, assisted by Harlan Snow; genealogy, Miss Mamie J. McCormick, chairman, assisted by Emmett Hood; bylaws, Don Lamm, chairman, Judge Dimmitt Hoffman, George H. Scruton and Tom Keating; reception, Dr. C. F. Scotten, Luther Luckett, George H. Scruton, D. S. Lamm and James T. Denny; curators, John Strine, chairman, C. F. Scotten, Judge Frank Armstrong, Raymond Wilder, and Mrs. W. P. Tucker, and membership, Jim Giokaris, chairman.

Harlan Snow, who several years ago was appointed by the Chamber of Commerce as chairman of the Scott Joplin project, told of the funds that had been raised for that purpose prior to the Centennial, of the donations from individuals and the concerts that had been presented to raise money, and finally of the erection of the large marker at the spot where the Maple Leaf Club had been on East Main. Scott Joplin and ragtime definitely played a role in Pettis County history, Snow

Gives Talk For Lions

The importance of newspapers was brought to the Sedalia Lions Club at its noonday meeting Wednesday, when Joe Forsee, circulation manager of the Sedalia Democrat-Capital, spoke. Forsee speaking in connection with National Newspaper Week, gave a brief history of the newspapers' operation and pointed out "the daily newspaper is an integral part of our American life and the free press is a bulwark of our democracy."

He also reviewed the problems and responsibilities of administering the Democrat-Capital circulation department of more than 14,000 daily and better than 14,300 Sunday subscribers, seeing each gets his paper.

In his talk he called attention to the "Little Merchant," the carrier boy who administers his own business on his route. Along this line he had a motion picture which carried through the newspaper operation and on through to the "Little Merchant."

The speaker was introduced by Chuck Branson, the program chairman for the meeting.

Guest at the meeting was Roger Cahill of the Missouri State Highway Department, guest of Bill Bunn.

C. J. Neil Chapman, president, presided over the meeting. President Chapman called attention to a "most successful" Candy Day program through which funds were obtained by the local club to assist in its work with the blind in Sedalia, and a part which goes to the state organization to help support the Eye Tissue Bank at the University of Missouri Medical Center.

He complimented Sheriff Emmett Fairfax, who was chairman of that project.

Virgil Herrick, chairman of the golf tournament held Sunday, reported it to be a very successful tournament, not only money wise, but also in participation.

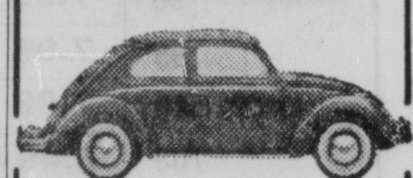

A complete report on the Candy Day sales will be made next week.

Attention was also called to the Ladies' Night to be held on Wednesday, Oct. 30. Plans for this program are now being arranged by a special committee.

The Lions, after 10 years vacation of show business, are planning to stage another of their Follies which were so successful several years back. No definite date has been set for the Follies, but is to come this winter.

pointed out, but since the marker had been erected and the Centennial was over he felt that this money should be turned over to the Historical Society. The amount would be about $135 he stated, and was not a Chamber of Commerce fund, but one that was completely Scott Joplin and ragtime.

TRANSATLANTIC AIRLIFT—In the biggest transatlantic movement of troops ever made by air, the U.S. will fly 16,000 soldiers to West Germany between Oct. 22 and 25. "Exercise Big Lift" will transport 14,500 troops of the 2nd Armored Division, plus supporting elements, from four Air Force Bases in Texas, one in North Carolina and one in Virginia. At the same time, a 1,500-man strike force, including tactical fighters and other planes, will begin flying from two bases in Maine. The massive movement is intended to dramatize U.S. ability to reinforce NATO forces in Europe. After field training exercises, most of the troops will return to home by the end of the year.

TV History Of Western Man Started

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The network that this year calls itself the new ABC started an ambitious educational project late last evening — a television history of Western man and his civilization.

The first show, one of four, quite naturally was concerned with the discovery of America. To set the scene, producer-narrator John Secondari took the first half of the program for a short course on the Italian renaissance.

The narration, heavily laced with readings from old records, diaries and ships' logs, was really a lecture. And it was illustrated with films of historic places, old masters' portraits, statues and occasionally by shadowy pantomimes of events. It was a laudable effort and probably is a very expensive one. But the program, on late in the evening, would do much better in an early evening or Sunday afternoon spot so that school-age audiences could get the benefit.

The panel of well-known comedians who will kick off ABC's "Laughs for Sale" next Sunday includes Mickey Rooney and Cara ("Pete and Gladys") Williams. The object of the show, replacement for "100 Grand" is to give some exposure to the work of untried comedy writers — and if it works it will be a television boon.

Although television's rating services had some rough going last season before a congressional committee, the industry and the advertising agencies are still paying breathless attention to estimates of audience sizes, particularly those of the Nielsen organization.

The most recent nation-wide Nielsen ratings, covering the last weeks of September, when most new shows were being launched for the season has "Beverly Hillsbillies" still in its usual place at the top of the

Daddy Hears Tales

Wacky Kindergarten World Related By Five-Year-Old

By LARRY FRIEDMAN
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)
CLEVELAND (AP) — What's life like in that wonderful—and sometimes wacky—world of kindergarten?

We can't be sure, because the only information we receive is from our 5-year-old. And she often takes a flyer into the world of fantasy.

My wife is anxious to find out what goes on in the little school-room with the big doll house. By the bruises on little Arlene's legs, Mommy has discovered the youngsters sometimes toss around blocks. Paint on her hands and clay in her hair are more evidence of kindergarten tools.

To Mommy's questions of "How was school today, darling?" comes such no-nonsense answers as: "Okay," "Fine," or "The same as yesterday."

But Daddy hears all the tales—or at least they sound like tales.

I was sitting on the sofa one evening reading the newspaper when Arlene flopped down alongside me. Suddenly she blurted out:

"Daddy, Tommy kissed me in school today."

"Huh. Who kissed you?"

"Oh, the teacher didn't see him kiss me," she said innocently.

"Well, what did you do?" I asked anxiously.

"I kissed him back. He's a nice boy."

heap, followed by "Bonanza," Ed Sullivan, Red Skelton and "Petticoat Junction" in that order. Of the new shows only "Petticoat Junction" and Imogene Coca's "Grindl" made the top 10 list.

"Perry Mason" seems to have quietly abandoned its old rigid format. There was an hour-of-courtroom confession in an episode the other day, and one show started with invincible Perry's client convicted for murder.

excitedly to relate the details of a "fire grill." "It wasn't a real fire grill," she explained. "Just a make-believe fire grill, because there was no fire." Reluctantly, she reported one time about being told to sit in the corner.

"Well, what did you do to deserve such an honor?"

"I was talking after Mrs. Cook told us to keep quiet. Then I started talking low to Vicki. But the teacher said she could hear someone whispering with her special ears."

"Daddy, do teachers have more than two ears like regular people?"

Since that day in the corner, Arlene has increased our weekly purchase of apples. On the theory that an apple a day keeps the doctor away, she has been eating two a day — and

Forged Signatures On Sales Contracts

INDEPENDENCE, Kan. (AP) —Albert L. Lesco, 46, testified Wednesday he forged signatures on 12 conditional sales contracts and sold them to a finance company as a means of obtaining a loan.

Lesco, formerly an appliance dealer in Independence and Coffeyville, Kan., said thought the Gibraltar Finance Corp. of Coffeyville understood what he was doing. He said he could not obtain a personal loan from Gibraltar for capital he needed because of legal restrictions.

Lesco, a former Baptist minister who lives in Independence, is on trial in Montgomery County District Court on charges of forgery in connection with five of the contracts. The prosecution has tendered in evidence the five specified and seven others, and the persons whose names appear on the 12 documents have testified they did not sign them.

Officers of Gibraltar testified that Lesco sold it 248 forged contracts for more than $100,000, but made payments on them totaling $27,000.

'Can Afford to Lose'

Venezuelan Red Terrorists Prepared to Wage Long War

EDITOR'S NOTE—Almost every day there are new reports of terrorism in Venezuela, a key nation in hopes for democratic progress in South America. What is behind this effort to push the country to dictatorship? Here is an analysis by the AP's chief diplomatic affairs reporter in Washington, now on a swing around South America to find out how both Uncle Sam and Fidel Castro are doing in that critical area.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Red terrorists in Venezuela call their hit-and-run war of bombings, murders, and robberies "La guerra prolongada" — The long war. Their immediate aim is to destroy this country's hopeful start on democratic government. Their ultimate goal is to convert Venezuela into a new Cuba.

"We can afford to lose a thousand times," says one of their slogans, "but we only have to win once."

The terrorists are city guerrillas. They have little support in the countryside or the villages. They often hide in crowded slum areas but they do not seem to be children of the slums. They are mainly university students from the country's more privileged families.

The youths in their teens and early 20s include girls as well as boys. When an insurance office was raided and burned a few days ago the raiders were two boys and a girl in shorts. Girls sometimes use lipstick to write "FALN" on the walls of places attacked.

FALN stands for "Armed Forces of National Liberation." Officials of the Betancourt government estimate its strength at 200-400 active members. The leaders are Cuban-trained experts in sabotage, subversion, and propaganda, estimated to number about 100.

Fidel Castro is their hero. Small as their numbers are, they constitute for Castro and communism a striking force on the South American continent; in this sense they pose a threat to the interests and policies of the United States in its own backyard.

Behind the active strike force, government officials say, is a much larger group of Communists and pro-Communists who provide passive support. The total number of Communists in the country is estimated at 40,000. The Communist party and the Marxist Movement of the Revolutionary Left, known as MIR, both have had representatives and senators in Congress.

Communism got its start in Venezuela under dictatorial governments which dominated the country during the first 60 years of this century. President Romulo Betancourt himself was briefly a Communist about 30 years ago when he was in exile in Central America. In later years he said he had suffered an attack of "political smallpox" from which he quickly recovered.

Betancourt and the Communists both are following very long range strategies in their struggle over the country's future. The Reds have been trying through their terror campaign to break down peace and public order to such an extent that the army would be compelled to take over. They reason they could then rally the country against a military dictatorship and seize power through a popular rebellion.

Betancourt's strategy is explained by Interior Minister Manuel Mantilla, who is charged with public security.

"The government's purpose is to isolate the Communists from the life of the nation and especially from the non-Communist left, so that labor unions, professional organizations, business organizations and all other groups support the government on this issue," he says.

Venezuela

But Betancourt says that battling terrorists, though vital as a defensive measure, is only a small part of the job that has to be done if democracy is to be firmly implanted in many Latin-American countries. He is mainly concerned about wiping out the basic conditions that produce dictatorships, right or left.

He feels that the reason he has been successful so far in Venezuela is that he has pushed through reform programs to narrow the gap between rich and poor, to raise salaries, improve housing, resettle the land with small farmers, wipe out illiteracy, and put children into school.

As he sees the problem, communism got its big start in Venezuela during the dictatorship of Gen. Marcos Perez Jimenez in the years 1948-1958—because the dictator fought Democrats and tolerated Communists. When Betancourt came to power in February, 1959, he says, he found the schools riddled with Communist teachers. During his 4½ years in office, his government has fired 2,500 teachers and university professors for recruiting Communists among the students.

Betancourt says Perez Jimenez also squandered the public wealth on showy buildings and forgot about health, housing, education, and raising living standards for the poor. He ruled by police oppression, and when he was overthrown his police force was so hated that Betancourt had to start all over again to build a corps to maintain normal public order. The lack of trained and experienced police has handicapped Betancourt in fighting Red terrorism.

Betancourt has been an angry crusader against dictatorial governments of any kind in the Americas. He has pressed the United States for more aggressive policies against military seizures of power. One reason behind this is that he feels extremists of the right such as Perez Jimenez inevitably lead to extremists of the left such as Castro in Cuba.

Venezuela was able to break the cycle and win its chance to experiment with democratic government — due in no small part to Betancourt's conviction that representative government would work if its leaders would not forget the needs of the people when they came to power.

Next March he is scheduled to turn over his office to a successor. With it will go unfinished business in rebuilding the nation, fighting the Communists and maintaining the confidence of the business community and the loyalty of the military high command.

That Betancourt has succeeded so far in balancing these interests and preserving democratic forms of government is considered by many people here to be a kind of Latin-American miracle.

The United States has a big stake in the ultimate outcome. U.S. investments here total $3.5 billion. U.S. trade with Venezuela is greater than with any other Latin American nation. Venezuela is one of the three greatest oil producing nations of the world and has vast quantities of iron ore and other natural resources. Its position on the Caribbean shores of South America is highly strategic.

"It's easy to see," a U.S. diplomat said, "why Venezuela is Castro's No. 1 target in this part of the world."

National School Lunch Week—Oct. 13-19

Sixteen million school children buy economical, nutritious noon meals at school every day under the National School Lunch Program, through which the U.S. Department of Agriculture provides about 20 per cent of the total cost in cash and food. In recognition of the efforts of local citizens who run the program in 68,000 schools across the Nation, the President has proclaimed National School Lunch Week, Oct. 13-19, during which school and community activities will point up the contributions of school feeding to the health and well-being of tomorrow's citizens.

Control of Cockroaches

The first step in cockroach control is sanitation, according to University of Missouri entomologists.

Next a household insecticide containing either two per cent or 0.5 per cent dieldrin, should be carefully applied. It can be sprayed or painted on with a small brush.

Best places to apply it are where the roaches must walk, such as around baseboards, under shelves, under the sink, behind furniture, etc.

Resistance might have been build up to chlordane and dieldrin by certain species. If so, the entomologists recommend an insecticide containing either 0.5 per cent diazinon or one per cent Korlan, or a mixture of 0.5 per cent DDVP and 0.5 per cent dieldrin.

The entomologists emphasize care in the use of the insecticides. Read the label carefully; follow instructions. Don't allow any food dishes or cooking utensils to become contaminated. Also, they say, don't place any food, dishes, or utensils on any treated surface unless the surface are covered with shelf paper.

Low Temperature and High Quality Meat

When selecting beef—the cut and grade or quality must match the cooking method. This is particularly true with chuck cuts. For example, you will select high quality beef if you are going to grill a chuck steak or cook a chuck roast by dry heat.

Any cut or grade of beef can be cooked easily so it is tender, juicy, and attractive. The most important rule is that all meat should be cooked at low to moderate temperatures. Cooking at 300 degrees to 325 degrees F in the oven, or simmering on top of the range will save the meat. Low temperature means less watching during cooking, uniformly cooked meat, 10 to 20 percent more meat to serve, and more juicy, tender, flavorful, and attractive meat.

Lower grades of chuck may need moisture to assure a tender, juicy product. Moist heat methods of cooking are braising, stewing and pot roasting. Care should be taken not to over-cook beef because it quickly loses juiciness.

How Much Meat Makes a Meal

One pound of boneless meat will serve 3 to 4 persons (stew meat and ground beef). One pound of meat with moderate amount of waste serves two persons (chuck roasts). One pound of meat with a large amount of waste serves one person (spare ribs).

Did You Know?

In terms of retail cuts, the average American will consume around 73 pounds of beef with in a year.

Easy Pot Roast

3 to 4 lb. chuck roast
1 can (10½ oz.) cream of mushroom soup
1 pkg. dry onion soup
aluminum foil (heavy duty)
Any roast cut may be used, but this is especially good for the less tender, less expensive chuck roasts. Place heavy duty foil in shallow roasting pan allowing plenty to lap over meat. Sprinkle onion soup on foil. Place meat over this and spread

750 Pounds of Coins Stolen From Vehicle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police are looking for a person with a heavy crime on his mind—someone stole 750 pounds of dimes, nickels and pennies from a parking meter collection truck.

No one knows exactly how much 750 pounds of coins comes to. As a parking meter collections employee at city hall pointed out, "we calculate only in pounds. Money has no monetary value to us."

with mushroom soup (undiluted). Fold foil loosely over meat. Do not press down too tightly. Fold edges of foil together using a drug store fold. Place in a 325-350 degrees oven for approximately 2½ to 3 hours. This is an easy way to have a tender, juicy roast with a well seasoned brown gravy already made. If more salt or seasoning is desired it may be sprinkled on the meat or added latter. Yield: 6 to 8 servings; If boneless 9 to 12. From: Eleanor Birdsong, Agent in Food Marketing, University of Tennessee.

Disciples of Christ Take Stand for Equal Housing Opportunity

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The international convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) ended its 114th assembly by urging Christians to retain homes in integrating communities.

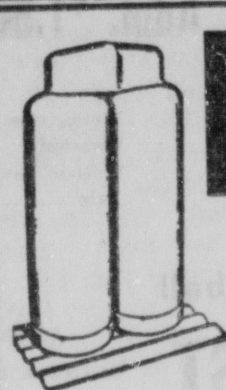

In a special business session late Wednesday, the assembly approved an amended resolution which urged Christians "to stand for equal opportunity in housing."

A sentence saying "racism is idolatry and segregation and discrimination on the basis of color, creed or condition are sins" set off a debate. It was deleted and replaced with this sentence. "People who sell their houses to move away from an integrated neighborhood are as bad as those who refuse to sell to persons of another race."

It's NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

... a good time to report to the growing family we serve.

Here in Sedalia's Central Missouri area, The Democrat-Capital is now received by more than 14,000 paid subscribers daily and more than 14,300 paid subscribers on Sunday—the largest reader audience in the history of these newspapers. And the circulation growth continues as more and more Central Missourians depend on these newspapers for complete, objective reporting every day. The Democrat-Capital is edited to make it the center of attraction for every member of the family. To each it gives a fresh, new look at the world in terms of his or her special interests . . . from comics for the small fry to business and sports for Dad . . . to social news for Mother. To all, it is the most accurate and comprehensive source of knowledge about what's going on every where. It keeps the whole family in step with the ever-quickening tempo of today's world.

NOW . . .

14,017 families daily

14,309 families Sunday

read the Democrat - Capital

(Average net paid daily and Sunday circulation for the period October 1 through 15, 1963, ABC, subject to audit.)

What this growth means to Democrat-Capital advertisers

The Democrat-Capital became a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations in 1955. The first audit revealed a net paid circulation on 11,455 daily and 11,872 Sunday. Since that time the net paid circulation has grown to 14,017 daily and 14,309 Sunday. On the basis of 3.1 persons per household, which is the average for the State of Missouri, this means that today the Democrat-Capital is received by 7,945 more people daily and 7,554 more people on Sunday. Here's proof that Democrat-Capital advertising "means business" because of market coverage—not a divided portion or share, but the whole market.

Highway Patrol Moving Soon To New Building

By LARRY HALL
JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Moving day is getting closer as the Missouri Highway Patrol gets ready to move into its new $625,000 headquarters building at the eastern edge of Jefferson City.

Actually it will be three moving days—Oct. 24, 25 and 26. The goal is to be all set up and ready to go in the new location on Monday, Oct. 28.

The new building, all agleam with its glass and aluminum front, decorated with blue glass panels, sits on top of a hill just above the Rex M. Whitton Expressway. Indirect lighting makes it a showplace at night.

Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, patrol superintendent, calls it "the best, most modern state police headquarters in the country." Visiting police officers who have seen it say the same.

One thing remains to be done. A sign, visible from the expressway, has to be put up.

"We've got just enough money left for that," Waggoner says. "After that we're broke."

The new building is on a site that used to be known as "Bird Haven" to Jefferson City residents. At the edge of the 40-acre property is an old rock quarry once operated by state prisoners. It is being converted into a shooting range.

The 24,000-square foot building was designed by Laucke and sons, Kansas City architects, and the Scheperle Construction Co. of Jefferson City was the general contractor. Construction started July 1, 1962. The formal dedication, with Gov. John M. Dalton as the speaker, will be held Sunday, Dec. 8.

Let's take a look at the inside. You'd never think it was a police headquarters to hear that soft music coming out of the loudspeakers from the building's own built in sound system.

But there are some grim reminders.

The ground floor of the two-story building (which is built so two more can be added on top later if necessary) is devoted to the kind of police work that has brought praise to the Missouri patrol.

There's a ballistics laboratory, for example, with a deep water tank where guns will be test fired.

There's a polygraph room where candidates for the lie detector will be tested. And a one-way mirror so the subjects can be observed from outside as they squirm.

Nearby is a little detention room where prisoners can be held while waiting to take the tests.

A big new chemistry laboratory is part of the crime lab facilities which occupy half the ground floor. There is also a special fingerprint room and three separate darkrooms to process pictures.

"We'll be using color soon, I suspect," the colonel says.

The rest of the ground floor is taken up by a printing room, storage space and the big records and identification section—complete with teleprinters of the patrol's own network and the news wire services.

A utility room crammed with equipment houses the furnaces and air conditioners which provide filtered air the year round. Each working area has its own thermostat to control the temperature.

The second floor also is divided into two wings.

On the west side are the administrative offices, including the section which enforces weight and other truck laws. In the east wing are the traffic safety division, accident files, a sound proofed business machine room where statistics will be compiled and a combination conference and lunchroom with a modern kitchen.

Throughout the building there is a modern built in telephone system both for interoffice communication and outside use. Radio facilities will continue to be located at Troop F headquarters farther east of town.

And how does Col. Waggoner view the impending move, the culmination of a long dream?

"I'm going hunting," he says. "They'll do better without me."

Wide Variety Beef, Pork Priced Right

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Shoppers will find a wide variety of favorably priced beef and pork cuts at grocery and supermarket meat counters this weekend.

With large supplies of steers and hogs coming to market, many food merchandisers are featuring beef roasts and steaks and pork roasts, chops, spare ribs and smoked hams.

A bountiful supply of turkeys is beginning to reach retailers, especially in the Northeast, Midwest and Southeastern regions. Broilers-fryers, stewing hens and lamb are among attractions in scattered places.

One national chain is offering both beef and pork specials, with boneless round roasts and top sirloin priced at 85 cents a pound in the New York area.

On the West Coast, beef loins were reported around 3 cents a pound lower except in the Los Angeles area.

On fruit counters, fall apples were plentiful and good. Cranberries were coming in, and grapefruit and avocados were increasing in supply.

Grapes continued to be a fruit attraction in the Midwest and other regions.

In the vegetables, widespread attractions included cabbage, broccoli, potatoes, celery, sweet potatoes, squash, green beans, carrots and peppers.

Twin Brother Gets Man Off Check Rap

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—When a man, who was charged with cashing a bogus check, brought his twin brother to court Wednesday, he walked away free.

The manager of the D. J. Loan and Mercantile Co., David Kleerman, told the court he could not say if the defendant, Eddie Jackson, 22, or his brother Fred, cashed a bogus $89.26 payroll check last March 22 at Kleerman's company.

Circuit Judge Laurance Hyde Jr. told the defendant, Eddie: "You have utilized a very strong and successful defense in the use of your twin brother to confuse identification. We're giving you the benefit of the doubt."

Then the judge added: "I hope you don't take this as a license to steal."

Tigers Will Take Bulldogs, Local Grid Coach Confident

"We are going to win this one," Coach Dick Rees remarked after the Wednesday night practice session of the Smith-Cotton Tigers at the Jennie Jaynes Lewis Memorial Stadium. Those were his words with reference to the Tiger's Central Missouri Conference game this Friday night when they meet the Rolla High School Bulldogs.

It will be homecoming Friday night and the final game of the 1968 home stand in football. The 1963 homecoming queen, Diane Drennon, will be crowned with appropriate ceremonies.

Smith-Cotton's marching band will be out along with the Spiz and Tiger rooting organizations to provide a colorful halftime entertainment. The band and others have been going through daily drills this week to be prepared for the "big show."

Coach Rees was well pleased with the result of the practice session Wednesday evening. The reaction of the boys was much better this week than since the season opened especially among the sophomore group who have been showing up better and better as the season rolls along.

"The boys were inspired more by the Sedalia fans, in the Columbia game," Rees remarked, "than they have been all season. It seemed as if the fans were pushing wanting them to go and recalling the game it is noticeable how they reacted to this support in the second half. That's what has been needed, let the boys know they actually have some feeling for them by those in the stands."

Repeating himself, Rees said, "This is it, we're going to win this one." Results of the workouts were such, Rees declined to announce what his starting lineup would be Friday night. "We've got several boys who have been outstanding in practice all week, and I know they'll be playing during the game," Rees concluded.

The high school students seem to be preparing for a big night tonight when they hold their Snake Dance, and are ready to produce a big homecoming parade Friday afternoon. The downtown area will be filled with excitement as these students "get hep" as one student referred to the activities.

Many 'Ifs' In College Predictions

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the third-ranked Pitt Panthers finish the season unbeaten and untied, give some of the credit to Dr. Edward H. Litchfield, the chancellor.

Late last season it developed that there were differences between Coach Johnny Michelosen and some of his players. It was termed a misunderstanding, but an outgrowth was that Dr. Litchfield said he believed too many players were called from the bench.

He called for Pitt to play a more exciting type of football and for the players to call more of their own plays on the field. He has denied that this meant he was taking over for Michelosen.

"It gets me that they think I'm interfering or getting into someone else's business," Dr. Litchfield remarked recently. "It's my job to be concerned about every aspect of the university."

The Panthers were expected to go places a year ago, but wound up with a 5-5 record. So far this season they have beaten UCLA, Washington and California and seem headed for a return to the glory days of Pop Warner and Jack Sutherland.

On paper they shouldn't have much trouble winning their fourth straight against West Virginia at Morgantown, W.Va. Saturday.

But anyone aware of the Pitt-Mountaineer rivalry knows this is one game West Virginia aims to win more than any other. They whipped the Panthers the last two years.

Pitt's stars, Paul Martha and Fred Mazurek, are in fine shape but Bob Long is hobbled with a knee injury and Wednesday he was replaced by soph Bob Dunlevy.

Numerous injuries were reported by other teams Wednesday.

The second-ranked Wisconsin Badgers learned that Larry Howard, senior end, will be lost for the remainder of the season because of a torn cartilage in his knee that requires an operation.

Jeff Brooke, soph guard for the 10th-ranked Northwestern Wildcats, twisted his ankle in practice and may be out of Saturday's game against Miami of Ohio.

Matt Snell, fullback for third-ranked Ohio State Buckeyes, was ruled out of Saturday's game against Southern California. Snell was injured last week against Illinois.

Hank Barden, North Carolina fullback, is out for the season with a broken hand. He was injured two weeks ago, but was expected back for late season games.

Bob Barth, soph halfback for the University of Miami Hurricanes, pulled up lame in practice and is a doubtful starter against Georgia Friday night.

Don Rosen, Minnesota tackle, hurt his back and Oklahoma State may be short five key players against Missouri. Injuries hit center Ed Thomas, ends Jerome Bell and Bob Taylor and backs Glenn Baxter and Jeff Williams.

TO BE HONORED—Many Smith-Cotton fans will see these three young ladies, all S-C seniors, honored during the half time activities Friday night at the homecoming game between the S-C Tigers and the Rolla Bulldogs. Center, with S-C's victory bell in the background, is Miss Diana Drennon, who will be crowned Homecoming Queen. Miss Drennon is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Russell K. Drennon, 1711 West 16th. Left is Queen Attendant, Miss Gayleen Jaeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerhardt Jaeger, 509 South Park. Right is Queen Attendant, Miss Sharon Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Perkins, 1001 South Harrison.

Injuries Important Factors In Big Eight Play Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Injuries could be important factors in the outcome of three out of four Big Eight football games Saturday. Only Iowa State and Colorado, opponents at Boulder, are in good shape on the injury chart.

Dennis Claridge, Nebraska's do-everything quarterback, is still a doubtful starter against Kansas State at Manhattan, due to a knee injury. But the 'Huskers learned that halfback Ken McCloughan will be ready to play. Sophomore Fred Duda is being groomed to take over for Claridge.

K-State still has fullback Willis Crenshaw and halfback Ron Barlow on the doubtful list; and Coach Doug Weaver has taken a wait-and-see attitude about them, preferring instead to work on the passing game.

"We'll have to pass well to beat 'em," he said. "We hope to give Larry Corrigan the protection he'll need against their big line."

Coach Phil Cutchin at Oklahoma State said he may be short five key players against Missouri at Stillwater. Center Ed Thomas is out and ends Jerome Bell and Bob Taylor, quarterback Glenn Baxter and left half Jeff Williams are all on the doubtful list. Cutchin had this bright note:

"We have worked out a new substitution system and have hopes it will strengthen our club."

Coach Dan Devine at Missouri marked three injured regulars off his travel roster. They are end John Sevik, guard Ralph Kubinski and end Tom Lynn.

At Kansas, starting left guard Larry Ledford probably won't play at Oklahoma and alternate center Buddy Walker is doubtful. The Jayhawks already had lost tackle Dick Pratt and end George Worley with bone fractures.

Oklahoma quarterback Mike Ringer had surgery Monday for an elbow injury and will be out four or five weeks. Bobby Page and John Hammond will alternate in his spot. Jackie Cowan likely will start in place of Joe Don Looney, dismissed from the squad, at left half.

At Iowa State, Coach Clay Stapleton said his squad "seems to be getting more confidence. The players are working together and helping each other out." The Cyclones upset Kansas 17-14 last week.

Colorado Coach Eddie Crowder welcomed back guard Al Hollingsworth, a 212-pound senior, and said he will be able to go at top speed Saturday. Hollingsworth had been held out to make certain he didn't have head injury.

Oct. 20 will see Adco facing T&G Motors and Mutual of Omaha going against Optimist at 2:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Name Hadl
AFL Player Of the Week

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The quarterback who was named the American Football League's Player of the Week rates as something of a glorified understudy on the San Diego Chargers to an older and more experienced signal-caller.

They are 23-year-old John Hadl, who was named Player of the Week in the Associated Press check of sports reporters covering AFL games, and 35-year-old Tobin Rote.

The Chargers coach and general manager, Sid Gillman, referred to them as his father-son combination in commenting on Hadl's sparkling performance Sunday.

Hadl replaced Rote in the second half, with the Chargers trailing 10-3, and led them to a 24-20 victory over the New York Jets.

Gillman said Hadl's play-calling was superb and his passing beautiful, but he gave Rote much credit for it.

"This older, experienced fellow," the coach said, "looks at the youngster as his child. The rapport between them is outstanding. It is as healthy as can possibly be."

Gillman made it clear the youngster is available to step into daddy's shoes at any time. He indicated Rote probably will start against Kansas City Sunday.

"But if he can't move the ball and put points on the board, we'll go to the other one," Gillman said.

Rote was among the first to congratulate Hadl on his handling of the Chargers Sunday.

"The quarterback does not deserve much credit when he's got runners like Paul Lowe and Keith Lincoln and blockers who knock people down," Hadl said.

Hadl joined the Chargers last year after playing college football at Kansas.

He completed his military duty last week. He had been getting weekend passes from the Air Force to be on hand if the Chargers needed him.

Hoopie Predicts
6 Major Upsets

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
The Original Wizard of Odds

Egad, friends, there are so many juicy upsets on this week's card that I can hardly wait to tell you about them.

Yes, my faithful followers, your loyalty to the Hoopie System will be rewarded with this exclusive forecast of six astonishing upsets—hak-kaff!

Fasten your seat belts—here we go!

The biggest shocker of the year will find lowly Tennessee nosing out mighty Alabama at Birmingham. I foresee a Volunteer victory, 16-10.

Of only slightly less magnitude will be the unexpected triumphs scored by Holy Cross over Dartmouth, Georgia over Miami, Syracuse over Penn State, Indiana over Michigan State, and Texas A&M over Texas Christian. The exact scores of these games are in my forecast below.

One game which defies the genius of an Einstein matches Minnesota and Illinois.

An exhaustive study of the punts and passes, first downs and touchdowns, laterals and line bucks, penalties and time-outs, fumbles and missed blocks by both teams, proves once again the geometric axiom that when equals are divided by equals the quotients are equal.

These clubs are so evenly matched that I predict the final score at Urbana will be Minnesota, 14, Illinois, 14—har-rumph!

Now go on with the forecast:

Smith-Cotton 7, Rolla 6
Air Force 22, Maryland 10
Tennessee 16, Alabama 10

Highest Winning, Losing Shares In League History

NEW YORK (AP)—The dazzling World Series pitching of Sandy Koufax, Johnny Podres and Don Drysdale, which buried the New York Yankees in four straight, put an additional $4,919.68 into the pockets of each fulltime member of the Dodgers.

In a breakdown of the Series player shares, Commissioner Ford Frick disclosed Wednesday that a full share was worth $12,794 to a winning Dodger while each full share for the losing Yankees amounted to $7,874.32.

They are the highest winning and losing shares in Series history. The Dodgers voted 32½ full shares, the Yankees 35¼.

It was the first million dollar player pool, the Dodgers getting $427,369.51 and the Yankees $284,913 from the $1,017,546.43 jackpot.

Another record was the total gate receipts of $1,985,180.09, most money derived from a four-game series.

The Dodgers' winning share surpassed the old winners' high of $11,232.18 paid to each fulltime Dodger in Los Angeles' victory over the Chicago White Sox in 1959. The Yankees' losing share is some $600 more than the previous high of $7,291.49 which the San Francisco Giants received after they lost to the Yankees in 1962.

The Yankees, as usual, demonstrated their generosity. They voted a full share to pitcher Bud Daley, who was on the disabled list virtually all season following an arm operation on April 24. Daley appeared in only one game.

The Yankees also voted full shares to pitcher Steve Hamilton and infielder Harry Bright, who were acquired after the season began and gave a two-fifth share of $3,149.72 to relief pitcher Tom Metcalf, who did not join the club until August.

The Dodgers, too, showed their generosity, by voting pitcher Ed Roebuck, traded away in midseason, a half share of $6,397, and awarded a fourth share of $3,198.50 to the widow of clubhouse man John Griffin, who died during the season.

Dick Nen, the rookie first baseman who helped win an important September game against the Cardinals with a home run in his first major league game, was voted $1,000. Thirty per cent of the player's pool was divided among the second, third and fourth place clubs in both leagues.

The two runners-up, St. Louis and the Chicago White Sox, received $76,315.98 each while the third place Giants and Minnesota Twins got $50,877.32 apiece. Philadelphia and Baltimore, the fourth place clubs, garnered $25,438.66 each. Fifth place finishers were not included in the payoffs.

People In The News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, says he thinks the Soviet Union is getting the best of spy-swapping with the United States.

"We have a situation where it is easier for the Soviet Union to plant spies in a free society than it is for the free world to put them in a police society where travelers need papers and movement is restricted," he said.

Dulles said in a speech he fears the Russians could arrest innocent American tourists and hold them as a "backlog" to rescue their own professional spies.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama will open a speaking tour of Ivy League colleges Nov. 4 with a speech at Harvard and Radcliffe.

His appearance will be sponsored by the Harvard-Radcliffe Young Democrats Club. A club spokesman said the audience will be restricted to students and faculty for "security reasons."

Dies In Collision

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A House Springs, Mo., man was killed Wednesday night in a two-car collision in South St. Louis County.

Killed was Francis Davis, 52. The driver of the other car, John Bremner, 58, of Robertsville, Mo., refused medical attention.

Wrote Final Notes While Pinned Down

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"Dear Mom, Dad and Darlene, I love you," the young man wrote on the back of an old bill of sale he had fished from his pocket.

He folded it and laid it beside him in the bottom of the ravine where his legs and lower body were pinned to loose earth and brush by a 15-ton bulldozer.

Roger Jones, 24, had given up hope that anyone would find him. He had lain alone in the remote ravine east of the city Wednesday for three hours or more. The bulldozer rolled backward and pinned him when he dismounted momentarily from his brush-clearing job.

The note was intended for his father, Harvey Jones, county highway engineer, his mother, and his fiancée, Darlene Smith, 20, of nearby Independence, Mo.

The young man had yelled until he was hoarse and weak. He was quiet now and only the idling of the motor above him broke the stillness.

Then two grading contractors, Harold Pollock and Bill Green, happened to be passing on a little used road and decided to look at the prospective housing tract with an eye to bidding on work there. They walked toward the ravine, saw the distant bulldozer and came closer. Jones saw and screamed for help.

"Please drive this thing off me," he begged.

Fearing they would injure Jones further they went instead for help. It took five wreckers to lift the bulldozer. While they worked, firemen administered oxygen.

"Are you married?" fireman Howard Massey asked.

"No but I plan to be if I make it," Jones replied.

He was taken to a hospital where he underwent surgery. His condition, the hospital reported, was serious.

World News In Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MOSCOW (AP)—An international Communist source said today that Communist party delegations from 20 to 25 foreign countries would meet in Moscow Nov. 7 to prepare a call for a world meeting to discuss the Soviet-Chinese dispute.

The informant said the meeting probably would be called for February or March and all Communist parties in the world, approximately 100, would be invited.

GENEVA (AP)—The International Committee of the Red Cross complains that its appeal for medical aid for strife-torn Yemen has aroused "only a little echo."

The all-Swiss body said that without international assistance it could not provide relief for the victims of Yemen's civil war.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON REZONING APPLICATION
WHEREAS, The Zoning and Planning Commission and the City Council of Sedalia, Missouri have received applications from Web and Sons, Inc., by W. E. Bingham, owners of the following described property:

Blocks 5, 6, 7, 8 and 16, Fair View Place, an Addition to the City of Sedalia, Missouri, requesting said real estate be changed and rezoned from Zone R-1 to Zone C-3 and that said application be acted upon as provided in Ordinance No. 4478. Therefore, in compliance with Sections No. 7415 and 7416 R. S. Missouri, 1959, other applicable statutes, and the said Zoning Ordinance No. 4478, and said Zoning and Planning Commission will meet in the Council Chambers, City Hall Building, Sedalia, Missouri at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, October 31, 1963, for the purpose of a Public Hearing in relation to said application, to change the zone and rezone said real estate, at which time and place, parties in interest and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard.

Dated at Sedalia, Missouri, this 9th day of October, 1963.
THE ZONING AND PLANNING COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF SEDALIA, MISSOURI
By VIRGIL HERRICK, Chairman.
THE CITY OF SEDALIA, MISSOURI
By L. L. STUDER, Mayor.

Duty Market Flourishes In Yemen

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SANA'A, Yemen (AP) — The duty market places of backward Yemen are thriving on civil war. Hundreds of tiny shops in the pungent "souks" are literally bulging with goods.

Along the twisting, narrow alleys you can find almost everything—Japanese transistor radios and cameras, Hong Kong electrical equipment, Czechoslovak shoes, East German razor blades, Red Chinese silks, British shirts and even bottled soft drinks from Saudi Arabia.

American cosmetics are a big item—although the women of Yemen veil themselves completely in public. You can even find "falsies."

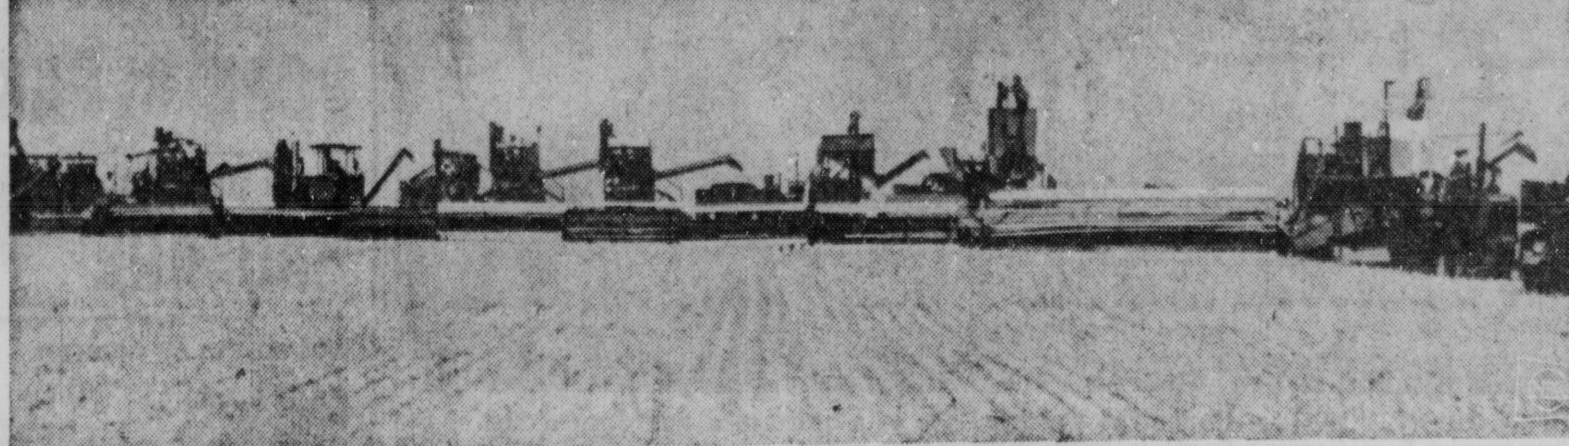

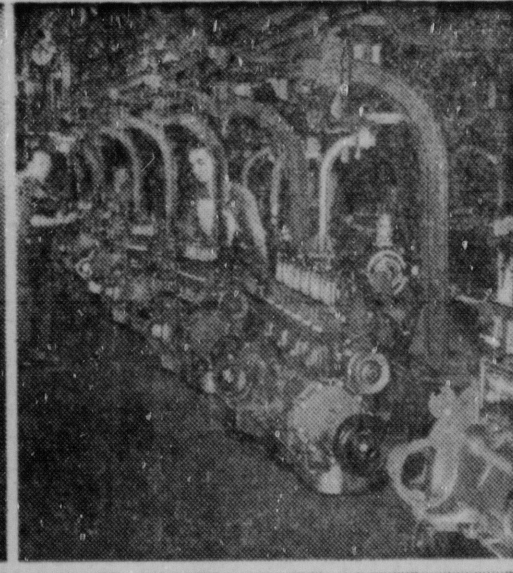

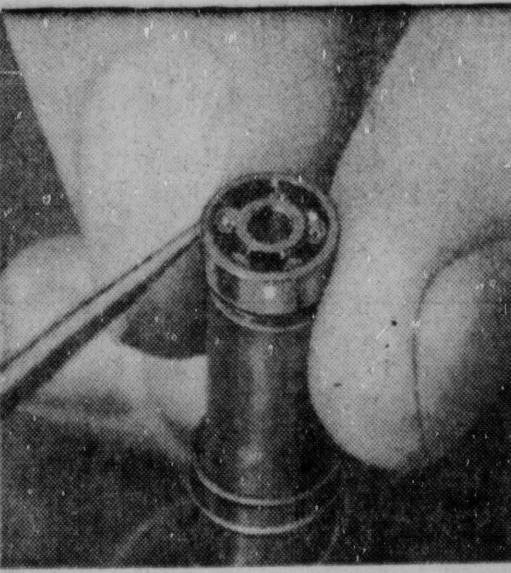

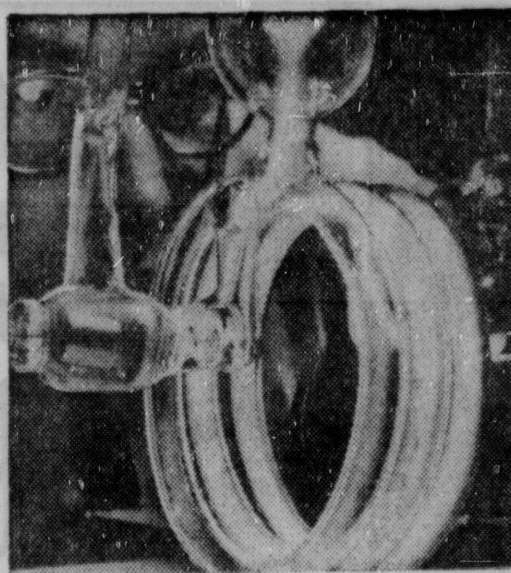

The trade boom has created problems for President Nasser who has sent about 30,000 of his Egyptian troops here to help President Abdullah Al Sallal fight rebellious tribesmen loyal to deposed King Mohamed El Badr.

The Egyptians find in Yemen many consumer goods which have all but disappeared from Nasser's socialist state. And they readily spend their monthly $15 allowance in the souks.

Aware of the need to maintain friendship with the Yemenis, Nasser has not pushed for import controls. Instead, he has continued to dip into his country's treasury to help Yemen.

The Yemeni rial, actually the silver Maria Theresa thaler, is flowing out of the country at an alarming rate to pay for the influx of consumer goods. To balance the demand, Nasser has agreed to mint new rials for Yemen and has advanced about $7 million worth of silver.

It is estimated that Egypt has poured about $10 million to finance Sallal's regime since last year's revolt—in addition to doing most of the fighting and attempting to build up Yemen's ill-trained 3,000-man army.

For its part, Sallal's government is of little help. Administration was left in a chaos when Mohamed was ousted.

The government really doesn't know where to begin to set its finances in order. There are no statistics and no statisticians. A few figures are being gathered and by next year Sallal has promised a formal national budget—the country's first.

When Imam Ahmed died about a year ago, it was assumed that his son, Imam Mohamed, gradually would steer the country out of its backwardness. He knew something of the outside world and made much of a supposed friendship with Nasser.

But before Imam Mohamed had ruled 11 days, he was shelled out of his mud and stone palace by Sallal, then a 45-year-old army colonel. Sallal discovered that he inherited a backward nation and all its problems.

The balance of power was against him. Although he had the support of the townspeople and flatland farmers—a majority of the country's five million population—he found they were no match for the fierce mountain tribesmen who delighted in fighting and normally supported the imam.

Tribes fighting on both sides have a tendency to vacillate or settle old tribal scores, often at the expense of ignoring the civil war. Last summer, Sallal's government had to execute some of its own tribal followers.

Under these circumstances it is impossible for the overwhelming majority of Yemenis to take an international view of their stalemated little war. But the war is international, potentially dangerous in the Middle East and distasteful to almost everyone.

Mrs. Marcum Honored With Cradle Shower

Mrs. Alvin Marcum, Clarksburg, was honored at a pink and blue shower Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Koechner. Hostesses were Miss Loretta Koechner and Mrs. William Dahlstein.

Gifts were arranged in a bassinet decorated with blue and pink streamers. Games were played before the honoree opened her gifts.

Cake, ice cream and punch were served.

People In The News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Harry S. Truman likes to boast about the miles he walked behind plow and mule on a Missouri farm in his youth. So he was a natural choice to present the ribbons to the winning mules in the American Royal Livestock Show.

But the 79-year-old former president declined an invitation to judge the age of a mule by examining its teeth.

"I wouldn't want to put on airs," he explained.

LONDON (AP) — "Men are incapable of choosing their wives' clothes. A man cannot judge clothes until he sees the finished product, that is, on his wife or girl friend.

"If a woman follows the advice of experts she can look elegant no matter how old she is or what size her figure."

Who's giving all this advice? An expert, of course.

Norman Hartnell, Queen Elizabeth's dressmaker, passed the word at a London fashion show.

LONDON (AP) — The condition of Lady Churchill, admitted to Westminster Hospital Tuesday, is in no way serious, says the hospital.

A statement said the 78-year-old wife of Sir Winston Churchill is in the hospital for rest and examination and added: "In view of the fact that her condition is in no way serious, it is not the hospital's intention to issue any further bulletins."

NEW YORK (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Irving Saypol has let it be known he doesn't fancy the fancy hats of attorney Enid Gerling.

Miss Gerling is fighting a contempt citation for refusing to take the stand to determine if she should withdraw as counsel for a man accused of carrying a gun.

She showed up in court wearing a large, floppy, velveteen chapeau. This prompted the judge to file a memorandum saying her "conduct in the pattern of hats, bizarre and tending to courtroom disruption and perversion is something no self-respecting judge can tolerate."

"You humiliated me as a lady and as an attorney," complained Miss Gerling.

"Don't become personal and offensive," the judge replied.

Marriage Problems, Social Hygiene to Junior Classes

By LEE LINDER
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The teacher spoke about the human body and told how babies are born.

Some of the junior high school pupils reddened, a bit embarrassed as they avoided the sly glances of their classmates. Others snickered. Most, however, took the subject seriously and listened intently.

Sex education is an important part of the curriculum of Philadelphia's junior and senior public high schools.

What sex is taught to children 13 and older in segregated classes: Either all boys with a male teacher, or all girls with a female teacher.

The Philadelphia Board of Education has been teaching about "marriage problems and social hygiene"—a more high-sounding description of sex—for more than 25 years.

Teachers don't preach, they describe. They don't moralize or condemn. They don't advise or suggest, they tell children who want personal answers to personal questions—which teachers can't handle under state school laws—to see their parents, clergymen or doctors.

"We try to develop an attitude so youngsters will make up their own mind," says Benjamin L. Stackowski, director of the division of physical and health education.

"We show how pre-marital relationships have affected other children, how adolescents are physically capable of reproduction but economically or socially unready."

"We do not put stress on the anatomy. We describe the human body and its functions. In some classes the emphasis may be on different topics. The dangers of venereal disease, for instance, would receive much more emphasis in those areas of the city where it is more prevalent."

The 9th Grade study manual suggests the teacher tell a class of 14-year-old boys:

"It is natural for you to be attracted to girls. If you are what you should be, this attraction will probably be shared by the girls. A reasonable amount of companionship with the opposite sex is mutually beneficial."

"Exaggerated interest in sex and sex organs is unhealthy, distracting from serious effort, and unnatural. It shows lack of self-discipline, a trait necessary in the training of good character."

Girls get about the same pitch with this added admonition: "In selecting boy companions, try to choose those of whom your parents would approve, so that it will be possible for you to entertain them at home. It is undignified and in poor taste to have dates on street corners."

Dorothy R. McQueen, Stackowski's assistant, says full discussion of marriage problems formerly was confined to the senior high classes—with pupils generally 17 and 18—"but we have found this age level is too late."

The health education course, last revised in 1950, is being reviewed so younger boys and girls can be reached.

Philadelphia public school pupils get hygiene once a week, for 45 minutes. Sex is only part of the course. They also are taught about foods, diet, first aid, exercise, community health.

Power Fight Narrows To Two Men

LONDON (AP)—The struggle for control of Britain's Conservative government has narrowed into a race between two commoners—Richard A. Butler and Reginald Maudling. Butler, 60, is regarded as middle road and Maudling, 46, more to the liberal side.

The problem of who will succeed the stricken Harold Macmillan as prime minister neared its climax with a decision forecast for Friday.

Secret consultations among members of the ruling Tory party, according to a high Cabinet source Wednesday, appear to have eliminated both Lord Hailsham, science minister; and Lord Home, the foreign secretary, as serious candidates.

Butler, deputy prime minister, was reported still ahead of Maudling, chancellor of the exchequer.

The picture of Butler and Maudling leading the field emerged after a day of bustle—especially around the bedside of Macmillan who advised he intends to resign because of his illness.

Leading members of the Cabinet trooped into the hospital bedroom where the prime minister is recovering from an operation for the removal of a bladder obstruction. One former Cabinet minister, Selwyn Lloyd, who recently completed a study of the Conservative party, was among the men Macmillan consulted.

Butler, who has acted as prime minister on and off since 1953, is a party "old faithful" with a record as an orthodox, middle-way Conservative. He is a skilled policymaker, expansionist in his economic theories, conciliatory in his politics. Crowds rarely thrill to his cold, workaday speeches but colleagues and officials vouch for his ability.

Mrs. Nolan Keller Honored at Shower

Mrs. Glenn Page and Mrs. Lloyd Winebrenner, Clarksburg, entertained Sunday afternoon at the Page home, honoring their niece, Mrs. Nolan Keller with a pink and blue shower.

A large white stork was the centerpiece on a table covered with a pink cloth. Presents were placed around the stork and under the table.

Games were played. Cake, punch and mints were served.

ONCE UPON A WALL—Under the watchful eye of a uniformed guard, a soldier of the Communist East German People's Army installs new barbed wire on the wall dividing the city of Berlin. The shirtless soldier was part of a crew reinforcing a section of the hated wall. In the background is another barrier of wood slats which is apparently intended to block the view into East Berlin.

Hall Seeks Hearing On Milk Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—A hearing in southwest Missouri to consider whether the price of milk should be increased was requested Tuesday by Rep. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., who said a boost is necessary because of prolonged drought.

Noting that six Missouri and Kansas cooperatives have asked for a hearing, Hall said: "The cost of hay has almost doubled in the past six months. Dairy farmers have had to start feeding forage crops much sooner than normal. Wells and ponds are running dry as a result of almost no rainfall in the past 45 days."

"There has been a marked increase in sales and auctions, and there is virtually no fall pasture left anywhere in southwest Missouri. The situation is critical, and without a price increase I'm afraid to contemplate the effect on our dairy industry."

Hall addressed his request to

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. Hall said a meeting will be held at the Department of Agriculture Thursday with representatives of the six co-ops to consider the request.

Predict Veto From President

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential veto was predicted Wednesday if Congress, spurred by annoyance with the Pentagon's civilian heads, passes a bill setting a flat four-year term for each member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

The forecast was made by one of the bill's supporters, Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of a House Armed Services subcommittee which heard a strong protest by an administration spokesman.

The witness, Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric, did not deny that Hebert is correct about what President Kennedy would do. He commented only: "I wouldn't want to predict what his decision would be."

Gilpatric noted, however, that the White House approved a letter by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara opposing the proposal. The deputy secretary added that he was testifying for the administration, not only the Defense Department.

He said the proposal to require a full four-year term for each service chief would tie the President's hands in picking his advisers, even though the military leader could be removed if he displeased the President while serving. No member of the joint chiefs could be reappointed under the bill, whose author is Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee.

Sedalia's 8 Garden Clubs In Monthly Meets Friday

The Sedalia Garden Clubs met on Friday, Oct. 11, as follows:

Garden Club No. 1 met at the home of Mrs. David Stratton, 1411 South Osage, with Mrs. W. A. Dromgold and Mrs. Emery Herrick as assisting hostesses. The Christmas Show, which will be held Dec. 6 and 7, was announced and discussed.

Mrs. M. L. Edwards, president of the Sedalia Council of Garden Clubs, gave an interesting account of the missionary work being done by her son-in-law and daughter in Kenya, Africa. Mrs. Edwards also told an interesting story of a trip she and her husband took this past summer.

Table settings for special occasions was the topic of the day and was given in an interesting manner by Mrs. E. G. Stumpf.

In the exhibit of the day, "Roses," Mrs. Earl Lugen received first; and for horticulture Mrs. Herrick received first and Mrs. Tracy York, second.

A dessert course was served to 20 members.

Mrs. Fred Lange, 907 West Broadway, assisted by Mrs. Marvin Crutcher and Mrs. H. A. Hite, entertained the members of Club No. 2. Mrs. H. E. Lindstrom, president, announced that the club had been awarded a blue ribbon for its year book.

Reports were given on the Junior Garden Club Tea held recently at the home of Mrs. Everett Stumpf.

Announcements were made of the Christmas demonstration and the annual Christmas show on Dec. 6 and 7.

In arrangements the awards were as follows: Mrs. H. E. Lindstrom, first; Mrs. H. A. Hite, second; Mrs. L. Raouls, third; and Mrs. H. A. Hite, fourth. Mrs. Raouls received first and second in horticulture.

Mrs. Hite, program chairman, presented Mrs. Mary Studer who gave an interesting program on "Colors and Trends." Mrs. Studer had many combinations of colors and materials which gave some excellent ideas for arrangements.

Mrs. Etta Johns, a former member, now residing in the state of California, was a guest.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. H. E. Lindstrom.

Garden Club No. 3 met with Mrs. Wilford Acker, 800 East 24th, with Miss Helen Bapple and Mrs. E. H. Williams, co-hostesses.

A dessert luncheon was served to 13 members and one visitor.

The business meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. E. J. Pflughoeft.

Mrs. George Emo, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Harry Kehl, who talked on the subject of setting and decorating tables. Mrs. Kehl illustrated by setting a table for each month in the year except July and August, since the club does not meet these two months she did not include them.

Starting with January her table was set with a brown cloth and white dishes centered with a white Polar bear. The place cards were temperature gauges. For February she used the Valentine theme, March, St. Patrick's, and April, Easter with lavender and yellow. For May she used black and yellow, and June, the bride's month, white and orchid. August was white and pink; September, black and white; October, Halloween; and November, Thanksgiving. December, the Christmas month, she used tan and white with a gold and crystal centerpiece of bells and leaves.

Reports were given of the Flower Show in Wellington which Mrs. Mary Ellis and Mrs. Acker attended, and the Rose Show in Kansas City, which Mrs. E. E. Brummet and Mrs. Acker attended and brought home many ribbons.

Mrs. Acker received the blue ribbon on horticulture.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. E. D. Jamison, 514 West Seventh.

Club No. 4, met at the home of Mrs. Anna Finch, 2231 West Second Street Terrace, with Mrs. J. C. Judd and J. L. Hiltburg as assisting hostesses.

A dessert luncheon was served to 18 members.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Hiltburg, who asked all to stand in a silent tribute to the late Mrs. Fred Brink, a member of the club who recently died. Mrs. Robert Phelan then gave a beautiful memorial for Mrs. Brink.

The exhibit of the day was "Table Arrangements," with Mrs. James Morton receiving first, second and third.

The topic of the day was "Table Settings for Special Occasions," with Mrs. R. L. Weinrich as program chairman, and presented Mrs. Ida Harriman, who set a table for Halloween; Mrs. Clara Beckley, a table for Thanksgiving, and Mrs. J. F. Skolaut a table for Christmas.

The next meeting will be Nov. 8 at the home of Mrs. James Morton with Mrs. George Livey and Mrs. Rex Warren assisting hostesses.

and Mrs. Wiley Booth as hostesses.

A dessert course was served at 1 p.m. by the ladies of the church to 18 members, and one guest, Mrs. Alice McKendree.

Mrs. William Schutt, president, presided at the business meeting and Mrs. L. L. Freund acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. DeWolf. The resignation of Mrs. Oscar DeWolf as recording secretary was read, and Mrs. Wiley Booth was elected by acclamation as secretary for the coming year.

Mrs. P. L. Strole gave an interesting report on the Chrysanthemum Tea given by the Junior Garden Club Oct. 10, at the home of Mrs. Everett Stumpf.

The exhibit committee announced the following awards: "Table Arrangements" with Mrs. Booth receiving first; Mrs. Fred Wertz, second, and Mrs. G. E. Mahlin, third. In horticulture, pampas grass, Mrs. Mahlin received first. Mrs. Wertz received second.

Mrs. C. K. Parsons, program chairman, announced the topic of the day was "Table Settings for Special Occasions" and Mrs. John Heiss was responsible for the film, "Table Settings," which was shown by Mrs. McKendree, secretary of the church. The film was very beautiful as well as informative, as it was in color.

The November meeting will be at the Methodist Church with Mrs. Lloyd Freund and Mrs. C. C. Rhodes as hostesses.

Club No. 6 met at the home of Mrs. John Silsby, Route 2, with Mrs. E. B. McNeill as co-hostess.

A dessert luncheon was served to the 15 members present.

Club No. 8 met with Mrs. Willa Laudenberger with Miss Marian Laudenberger assisting.

Mrs. George Dryden conducted the business meeting and Mrs. Melvin Marriott became a new member.

Mrs. George Sparks received first for the exhibit, "Table Arrangement" and Mrs. R. O.

Smith, second, with Mrs. R. L. Momberg first in horticulture.

Mrs. E. C. Martin named her committee chairmen for the year. Flower calendars for 1964 were distributed. These calendars contain photographs of designs by some of Missouri's outstanding arrangers and is the first calendar of this kind to be published by the Missouri Federation of Garden Clubs.

A paper prepared by Mrs. R. L. Momberg on "Table Settings" was given by Mrs.

George Sparks. The paper gave a good rule to follow which was to use napkins that contrast with the cloth, then emphasize the contrast with flowers in the arrangements.

Another Burglary? Yawn-n

Ho hum!

Another filling station broken into. Another self-service laundry change box bashed in. More petty pilfering.

It's all so repetitious night after night no wonder Sedalians are impelled to yawn.

However, these repeated episodes like a serial horror story may end up with someone getting hurt or shot when a victim's patience wears thin.

Most of these burglaries net the perpetrators from a few hundred dollars to chicken feed or some merchandise. We can't imagine professionals wasting their time on such unproductive excursions into criminal activities. If they are amateurs they are certainly adept in the role of jumping jacks hopping from one place to another until they have actually gotten the police cross-eyed.

There is no great clamor from the public about all this, just indifference. But what a howl we'll hear when some youngster is winged in the act of burglary which is sure to happen sooner or later if shooting becomes necessary.

The police should be encouraged to enforce the curfew applying to juveniles and check out some of the license plates on cars of adults roaming the streets in early morning hours.

We might add that service station, laundry and restaurant proprietors might cooperate with the police by not leaving so much change overnight in their establishments, as a temptation to amateurs or professional burglars. Business men might get together with the police in an organized effort to provide some device to entrap those who think they are so smart they have buffaloeed the police.

Right now the situation is not much more than a nuisance covered in most cases by insurance. But a chronic nuisance may develop into acute tragedy one of these nights.

Encouragement should be given the police to put the blocks to all this foolishness even if it means some additional man power. GHS

DALLAS MORNING NEWS: Adult Education. — The University of Chicago's national opinion research center concludes that 25 million adult Americans are continuing their education by one means or another. . .

Fewer than half of the adult-education studies are being pursued under regular academic institutions. Most adult are boning up on subjects of personal concern, such as job-related skills and improvement of personality.

Regrettably, only 27 per cent are delving into the realm of ideas and values found in academic, religious and public affairs categories. If this is true, the adults in their studies are not getting education in its real sense; they are getting "training."

Education is the acquisition of knowledge, and education at its highest is the use of that knowledge for the betterment of man. Certainly, today, youth and adult alike must be equipped to make a living — but more important is equipment on how to live.

Windmills for Sale

The Dutch want to keep their picturesque landscape and other tourist attractions, which have made the Netherlands famous, but their windmills are falling apart.

A windmill can now be bought in Holland for one guilder, about 25 cents. But that is only the down payment. Purchasers must sign an agreement to pay for the restoration and the upkeep. It costs up to $10,000 to do this and few persons are willing to spend that much money to see which way the wind blows.

The Dutch are sentimental about their windmills, so the government and a special society for the preservation of windmills agree to pay 50 percent of the cost. The

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Mrs. Kennedy's Host Once Indicted

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — There's been a lot written in the European press about Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's cruise on the yacht of the glamorous Greek shipping magnate, Aristotle Onassis, once indicted for cheating Uncle Sam and required to pay a whopping $7,000,000 fine.

Actually the publicity began long before Mrs. Kennedy arrived. It resulted from the fact that her sister, Princess Radziwill, spent most of the summer on the Onassis yacht, or as guest of the big, brusque, and charming ship owner at his home.

The monthly magazine "Pictures from Greece" for September devoted two pages to Lee Radziwill, including one picture with Onassis, featuring the fact that "She came here at the invitation of Aristotle Onassis" and was dividing her time between two cabanas at Vouliagmeni, the bathing beach near Athens, the Onassis yacht, and the Onassis home, "Mikrokavouri," which means "Little Crab."

Onassis has been separated from his wife ever since Maria Callas, the famed opera star, left her husband for alleged matrimony with Onassis—which later cooled off.

Shipping Hierarchy
Onassis, who now owns Olympic Air Line as well as a vast fleet of ships, is a former stevedore who married the daughter of Stavros G. Livanos, one of the great shipping tycoons of Greece. His brother-in-law was S. S. Niarchos, another big shipper, who married another daughter of Livanos.

All were part of the shipping cabal which bought American surplus ships at the end of the war for a shoestring and parlayed their fleet into one of the largest in the world.

After the war, a kindly Uncle Sam, with too many ships on his hands, wanted to rehabilitate the Merchant Marine of European nations.

Greek merchants bought 98 Liberty ships for a paltry down payment of $21,780 per ship, plus a Greek Government loan guaran-

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Charles O. Botz and family, who have been living at 110 East Broadway, are moving to the residence property at 1300 West Fourth street, formerly owned and occupied by Sam Milton and family, who have moved to California. The Milton home was sold to Roscoe L. Schanz, of Marshall, and has been leased by Mr. Botz.

—1938—

The John Smith Republican club was organized by the voters of the First Ward, third precinct at their meeting place, 400 West Cooper street. Elected were: President, J. L. Ferrel; Vice-President, Henry Kitchen; Secretary, Mrs. Carl Banks; Treasurer, Mrs. Rose Alexander.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The home of Ben Harned, R.F.D. 2, Beaman, northeast of Sedalia, was completely destroyed by fire which broke out about 5:15 in the afternoon. The blaze which presumably started from explosion of an oil stove swept through the house so rapidly that saving of house and furnishings was impossible though members of the family were on the place at the time.

—1923—

Mrs. A. J. Glassburn and family, 1316 West Fourth street, have removed to 309 South Carr avenue, which residence was formerly occupied by Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Trader and family. The latter have removed to the C. F. Cook property, 1717 West Third Street.

government also offers new owners of windmills an annual stipend of 500 guilders or $125.

In 1923 there were 3,000 windmills in operation in the Netherlands. Now there are 977, most of them rundown or damaged by fire.

tee and Greek certificates extended under the Marshall plan.

They did not carry Marshall plan goods to Greece free, as did French, British and Italian government steamers. In addition, some bought ships privately from the United States and transferred them to Panamanian, Liberian, or Honduran registry. They paid almost no taxes in Greece, and as Greek citizens with income from Panama or Liberia, they were not required to pay taxes in the United States.

But by 1948, the United States woke up to the way its surplus ships were being used, and a law was passed cutting out sales to foreign nationals. Some Greek ship owners got around this by forming dummy corporations whose major stock was owned by American citizens.

The Onassis Indictment
This was how Mrs. Kennedy's ebullient and handsome host, Aristotle Onassis, got indicted. He had set up a dummy corporation, including an ex-Congressman and an American Ambassador, which he used to cloak the purchase of American Government tankers.

The Truman administration investigated. The Eisenhower Administration inherited the investigation and indicted both Onassis and his American partners on a criminal charge of conspiring to deceive and defraud the United States.

The most embarrassed man in Washington was the man who brought the indictment — Herbert Brownell, then Attorney General. For it was the law firm of Lord, Day, and Lord, of which Brownell was senior partner, which had advised Onassis that it was legal for him to set up these dummy corporations.

However, the Justice Department, of which Brownell was then boss, ruled that this was a criminal offense.

To get out of the embarrassment, a deal was made by which Onassis, instead of standing trial, could pay what he called a "Ransom."

It totaled $7,000,000.

The World Today

Withdrawing Words Spoken In Haste

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lots of people say things they wish they hadn't. Members of Congress have a unique advantage in this situation—they can wave a magic wand and make the words disappear.

The magic wand is their privilege to change the remarks they make on the floor before they are made a part of the Congressional Record.

For example, the other day Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, was complaining about trips some members like to take at public expense. Gross never goes on these himself.

Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., upholding the worth of travel, demanded of Gross:

"If you don't want to go, why don't you just shut up?"

But the next morning when the Congressional Record came out, Cooley had softened his words.

As revised for the record, they read: "It is difficult for me to understand why you continue to complain."

Offhand, it would seem that Congress would want its record to be accurate, to show exactly what took place and what was said. But any feeling along those lines is outweighed by a desire to look as good as possible. And in Congress, as elsewhere, hindsight is 20-20 vision.

The late Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, D-Ore., who fought the practice, once described one aspect of it this way:

"After a major debate in the Senate over an issue which stirs profound emotions I have seen many senators virtually rewriting the speeches and retorts just delivered on the floor of the Senate."

"Some will totally expunge comments made in the heat of debate that may seem indiscreet or unwise in the cold, gray light of the next dawn and in the inflexible type of the Congressional Record."

On the other hand there is the argument, in favor of allowing revisions, that was advanced years ago by Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass., now the speaker of the House:

"Sometimes in running debate, extemporaneous debate in the House and heated argument, I say things sharply that upon reflection I would not have said, and did not mean."

If he didn't mean them, and they still slipped out, it is understandable why he would want to change them. But again, this is a privilege not accorded to most citizens in this democracy.

The No. 1 authority on Congress' reluctance to tighten the rules on what is permitted in the Congressional Record is Rep. Paul C. Jones, D-Mo.

For years, Jones has been promoting a resolution to keep extraneous material out of the record, to have it reflect only what happened.

But Jones can't get the House Administration Committee, which reigns in this field, to even give him a hearing. And he's on the committee.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Doctor Must Determine Cause of Chronic Anemia

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is there such a thing as chronic anemia? What are the symptoms? What causes it and is there any way to control it?

A—There are several kinds of chronic anemia as distinguished from the acute form that occurs due to a hemorrhage. Chronic anemia may be due to a deficiency of iron, vitamin B-12 or other essential elements. The onset is gradual and the symptoms may consist of weakness, sore tongue, numbness or tingling of the fingers and pallor of the skin and mucous membrane.

Because there are several forms, you should have a careful study including microscopic examination of your red blood cells. Your doctor can then prescribe medicines you need to control the condition.

Although persons with leukemia usually develop some degree of anemia, anemia is never given as the diagnosis in such persons. Leukemia is a malignant disease of the blood believed to be a form of cancer and is characterized by an overabundance of white blood cells. Anemia is not a form of cancer and is characterized by a deficiency of red blood cells and hemoglobin (the red coloring matter in these cells). Persons with anemia frequently have a low white cell count, also.

Q—I am troubled with hoarseness due to mucus on my vocal cords. As I do a lot of singing this is a great handicap. Can anything be done to relieve this?

A—You should be examined by a throat specialist to rule out cancer of the larynx. This is fairly common and is not easily detected by your family doctor. If no cancer is present, one of the best remedies is the inhalation of steam with or without tincture of benzoin in the water. In order to be successful, you should have the steam kettle or generator on the floor and sit over it with your head draped with a bathrobe or sheet, thus forming a steam tent. If you do this for 15 to 20 minutes two or three times a day you should be able to sing like a canary.

Q—My doctor says I have valvular heart disease and should take digitalis. What is this medicine supposed to do and how long must I take it?

A—As a result of rheumatic fever or some other infection, you have a scarring of a heart valve. This causes some leakage or back flow with each heart beat. Digitalis has a specific action on the heart causing it to contract more slowly and more forcefully. This helps to compensate for the leakage.

Although your doctor may want to adjust the dosage from time to time, you will have to take digitalis or some closely related drug indefinitely, unless it is decided that you are a fit candidate for surgical repair of the scarred valve.

Helicopters Swoop On Watermelon Patch

LAS ANIMAS, Colo. (AP) — Rancher Ed Wilkins said it happened so fast he couldn't believe his eyes.

Two big Army helicopters swooped down over his prize watermelon patch and landed. A man bolted from each, grabbed up a melon and the 'copters disappeared as quickly as they came.

"I didn't even get a chance to shake my fist at them," Wilkins told a neighbor.

We the Women

Know When to Say Yes

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The man who stands a good chance of a happily married life is the one who knows when it pays to agree with his wife. If he's wise, he can get a lot of peaceful mileage out of a "yes" when certain situations arise.

One is when she models something new she bought on sale and can't return. If he says he doesn't like it, then his wife is never going to want to wear it—and his money has been wasted.

When she points out some flaw in a woman who is getting more than her share of masculine attention he could agree without reservation. This is no time to remark: "I don't see why all you women have it in for her."

When she has a grievance against a third person is no time to strike a judicial attitude and open-mindedly see the other person's point of view. At this moment the only point of view your wife wants you to see is her own outraged one.

Or take this common situation: She is leaving out part of a story in order to make it sound a little more impressive. This is not the time to jump in with, "Why don't you tell the whole story?"

When she spends the day shifting furniture around and says expectantly: "Don't you think it looks better this way?" A man's natural reaction is "What was wrong with it the way it was?" But that is mighty exasperating to a woman who worked for hours to change it.

The payoff is when you come home and find she has changed the color of her hair.

Let her have her fun. If it really does look awful, she'll come around to your way of thinking and restore the natural color herself. And if it looks great, you'll become accustomed to the change. You can't lose either way, so why argue?

Change Odor of Marigolds

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — Those who hesitate to use marigolds or other flowers for table arrangements because of their offensive odor, can spray them with a household air freshener. The flowers are then completely odorless and the spray does not affect the appearance of the blooms at all.—MRS. G. H.

GIRLS—There is always more than one good way to "skin a cat." If you do not like the hint above, try the one below.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I grow mint in my garden and when I pick flowers like marigolds that have an unpleasant odor, I put a few sprigs of mint in the bouquet. This gives off a fresh odor as well as adding green to the flowers.—LILA

DEAR POLLY—An old plastic raincoat which has become too shabby to wear has not outlived its usefulness. Cut it to waist length, remove the sleeves and use it as a cosmetic cape. It affords excellent protection to your clothes.—MRS. A. E. L.

DEAR POLLY—I am a regular pack rat when it comes to saving things. I have been saving worn out zippers for a long time and have found they can be made into pretty and inexpensive boutonnieres. The cloth tape on the zippers is of different colors and I make them into flowers. Divide each zipper at the bottom, coil one side of it into a ring with the metal prongs on top. Fasten together with a thread. Mount on three green plastic leaves. Put a small gold safety pin on the back and no one will ever guess the origin of your novel nose-gay.—E. B.

DEAR POLLY — Now is the time to begin collecting newspaper and magazine articles about political candidates and their views in preparation for the 1964 elections. Some of us are too weary by night to study carefully the writings that are of a political nature. I keep scissors handy and clip these for that quiet time when politics has my primary interest.—MRS. D. H. B.

GIRLS—I am sure many of us would do well to follow this sage advice and keep the political material until we can read it intelligently and carefully rather than scan through it without much thought. Makes it a bit more interesting to have the opposing candidates' statements to read and compare at the same time.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — A pastry brush is fine for touch-up starching on shirt collars, shirt fronts, belts and so on. It really beats spraying, I think. Brushing starch onto the desired parts of the garment eliminates waste. And there's no chance of spraying the starch where you do not want it to go.—MRS. N. M.

Cambridge

By CYRENE DEAR

CAMBRIDGE, England — The opening of the university year is definitely not the time to visit Cambridge, but perhaps the primitive hotel space available and the "queuing" up of students at the railway station is a good representation of what goes on when school begins.

Cambridge, located on the River Cam, like most European cities and towns is very old. It is a large university, composed of twenty separate colleges. These are built in quadrangles, with beautiful lawns called "Backs."

The oldest college, Peterhouse, was founded in 1284. Only four out of the twenty were founded after 1800. The influence of the great architect Sir Christopher Wren can be seen in the chapels of Pembroke College, Emmanuel College, and the Trinity College Library. King's College Chapel is one of the most beautiful buildings in the world. It was founded in 1446 by Henry VI. Today it possesses an excellent choir which the radio has taken into millions of homes.

Many famous men have been educated at Cambridge. The Dutch philosopher Erasmus taught Greek here; John Harvard, who founded Harvard College in Cambridge, Massachusetts was "up" at Emmanuel from 1627-31. Sir Isaac Newton, although it is not known just where his famous "apple of gravity" fell, was educated here as were Francis Bacon, Lord Byron, Macauley, Tennyson, and Wordsworth were at Trinity College while John Milton and Charles Darwin went to Christ's college.

The atom was first split in the Cavendish Laboratory of Physics in April 1932 by Cockcroft and Walton.

Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II was the first woman to receive a Cambridge degree and it was an honorary one. There are two women's colleges at Cambridge, but their degrees come from the respective colleges.

Student life at Cambridge is different from that on the American college campus. Instead of seeing the young people out in the latest college fashions, many of them are shabbily and even

Legislator Chides Council for Action

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The City Council adopted a resolution approving President Kennedy's program of Medicare for the aged and sent letters to Florida congressmen to that effect.

Rep. A. Sidney Herlong, a Democrat who represents a district in central Florida, replied: "This appears to me to be a gratuitous injection of yourselves into a matter which does not concern the City Council. This is a matter which you conclusively prove by your resolution that you know nothing about."

poorly dressed. Of course, the men walk around in their flowing black robes thrown carelessly over their shoulders, some of them are bearded and look like beatniks.

One thing is certain, the Cambridge student is more concerned about learning than comfort. Most of them live in quarters at the College they are attending. Others live in rooming and boarding houses wherever they can find a place. As in the States, more young people are going to college, and in spite of very stiff entrance exams the University and the facilities are over crowded.

The most modern thing in Cambridge is its daily newspaper. It is in a new plant which not only publishes its own tabloid daily with a circulation of 30,000 but several other publications.

The open market in Cambridge sells everything from flowers to antiques. It is colorful with its wares and crowds of people but unless one knows merchandise it is best not to take advantage of the so-called bargains.

A brief visit to this ancient university town was interesting but one would have to stay for a longer period to absorb the real atmosphere.
